PRESIDENT CAUGHT IN MIDDLE EAST SQUEEZE...

SANCTIONS OPPOSED BY DEMOS

Arab World Urging Israel Punishment

...Demand To Be Made In United Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sped back from a Georgia vacation Tuesday to find himself and his administration caught in a terrific squeeze on the issue of sanctions for Israel.

Johnson

On one side was an increasing body of congressional opinion against punishing Israel for her refusal to withdraw from Egyptian territory without nonaggression guarantee.

On the other side, the Arab world—which the United States has been wooing in an attempt to block Communist expansion in the Middle East—was crying for the United Nations economic sanctions if Israel doesn't pull out.

There were two major developments in the squeeze Tuesday:

1. A unanimous vote by the Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate against sanctions. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and other members of his party already have expressed opposition to sanctions.

2. A declaration by Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon that sanctions would be demanded in the U. N. Thursday and he hoped the United States would support the move.

Malik spent an hour with Asst. Secretary of State William Rountree going over the Arab position. Afterwards he told reporters:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

The Lebanese leader also said gains scored by American diplomacy after the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt "stand in danger of being dissipated if the United States does not exert enough pressure to seek withdrawal of Israel."

Eisenhower went directly from the airport to the White House to grapple with the multiplying Middle Eastern problems. Waiting for him there was Secretary of State Dulles, who earlier in the day had given Israel assurances that the United States considers the Gulf of Aqaba is an international waterway.

The Democratic decision on sanctions was announced in the Senate by Majority Leader Johnson of Texas. He said the Policy Committee voted to ask that the U.S. delegation to the U. N. oppose any move to impose economic penalties on Israel, while other nations which have ignored U. N. orders go unpunished.

Dulles Comments

Dulles discussed the Gulf of Aqaba at his news conference. Since it is an international waterway, he said, Egypt has no right to interfere with the innocent passage of Israeli ships, American vessels or those of other nations.

He added he expects U.S. ships will go through the Straits of Tiran, the gulf's bottleneck entrance at the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula, without being stopped.

Dulles said Israel has the same right as soon as she pulls her troops out of Sharm El Shaikh, where Egyptian guns had commanded the straits, and the Gaza Strip at the other end of the embattled Israeli-Egyptian border.

Johnson told the senate he had asked for the guidance of his party's Senate leadership in advance of a White House conference Wednesday on the Middle East question. Johnson and other congressional leaders of both parties will participate.

The Democratic Policy Committee responded by endorsing a letter Johnson has written to Dulles condemning sanctions for Israel when larger nations like Russia have never been punished for ignoring other U.N. resolutions.

"To put it simply, the United Nations cannot apply one rule for the strong and another for the weak," Johnson wrote.

"I have, Mr. Secretary, seen no suggestions in the United Nations of the application of economic sanctions against the U.S.S.R. Israel has in a very large part complied with the directives of the United Nations. Russia has not even pretended to be polite."

Johnson went on to say it is not "utterly unreasonable" for Israel to request U.N. guarantees that Egyptian raids will not be resumed if Israel vacates the Gaza Strip. He said no such guarantees have been given.

Instruction Urged

He urged Dulles to instruct the U.S. delegation at the U.N. to oppose "with all its skill" sanctions against Israel.

The Eisenhower administration has not yet announced its position on sanctions.

Newsmen asked Johnson whether he thought the position he had taken would tend to tie the hands of the President.

"I would leave it up to the Republicans to put their President in a straitjacket," the Texan replied. "I would never do that. I know of no requirement, however, that a senator must refrain from expressing his views."

Brownell Orders Salk Polio Probe

Violations Of Anti-Trust Laws Eyed In Sale Of Vaccine

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Justice Department has ordered a federal grand jury investigation into charges that manufacturers violated anti-trust laws in the sale and distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

Informed sources said Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., authorized a sweeping investigation after studying evidence turned up by department and congressional investigators.

It was learned that the department intends to subpoena company records in its attempt to indict vaccine producers under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, which outlaws price-fixing conspiracies and restraint of trade.

Congressional sources also disclose that an intensive investigation of alleged "new evidence" is being carried out by a House Government Operations subcommittee, headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-NC).

Can Sue

The subcommittee has already advised state officials that under federal law they can sue for triple damages if they have been injured by any actions forbidden in the anti-trust laws.

The subcommittee is also looking into:

1. Why the Department of Health, Education and Welfare paid for millions of dollars worth of polio vaccine without questioning the fact "substantially similar" bids were received from manufacturers, and without asking for any quantity discount?

2. Whether vaccine distributors received "windfall" commissions on orders placed by states and paid for with federal funds?

The Justice Department investigation, now reaching the grand jury stage, was begun in April, 1955, when the polio vaccine was first being released for public use.

'Nebraska Not Likely Involved'

The federal grand jury probe is not likely to have any effect on Nebraska, State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers said.

"We have not purchased any vaccine with federal funds alloted to Nebraska," Dr. Rogers explained. The State accepted an allotment of vaccine in lieu of cash, he said, when the choice was offered.

All Salk vaccine used by the State Health Department was obtained through the Public Health Service, Dr. Rogers explained, not from manufacturers.

L.A. Man Gloats At Slayings

...Admits 11 Murders

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Mass killer Stephen Nash gloated sadistically Tuesday over the deaths of unidentified four sailors he claims he slew.

During noon recess of his Los Angeles trial on charges of murdering a 10-year-old Venice boy and a 27-year-old Long Beach beautician, Nash told newsmen:

"I'm not going to talk anymore about the sailors. Nobody wants to pay me for the information.

"Their poor mammas will have to wait seven years before they can be declared dead and get the $10,000 GI insurance. I'll prove where their missing boys are—I'll take them to the bodies—if they each give me $1,000 of the insurance. They can keep the other $9,000 apiece."

Nash is on trial for only two of the 11 grisly murders he has admitted. Three others have been confirmed. Two other murder victims have been identified but not proven. Names of the four sailors are unknown.

Shocked

The 10 men and two women of the jury were visibly shocked Tuesday when Dr. M. B. O'Neill described the score of stab wounds and slashes which killed 10-year-old schoolboy Larry Rice. O'Neil operated on the boy in an attempt to save his life after he allegedly was attacked by Nash under a Santa Monica pier.

But Nash was not visibly affected by the testimony. He craned his neck to look at the spectators and at one point objected to presence in the courtroom of officers who were scheduled to testify later.

Nash shouted:

"I don't want them in here so they can listen to each other's testimony."

The judge ordered the officers in question to leave the room.

Flames Destroy Dodge Theater

DODGE, Neb. (AP) — The Dodge Movie Tetheater burned Tuesday night and smoke damage was suffered at the Vlach Grocery and Dodge Hatchery flanking the theater. An explosion was heard in the empty theater just before the fire flared up. Firemen said movie film may have been the cause of the explosion and fire.

NEW SEWER SETUP

The Legislature Tuesday unanimously approved Lincoln taking over operation of Sanitary District No. 1 and the city promises to do so as rapidly as possible. See story on Page 2.

—Senate Debate—

Threat By U.S. Asked

Majority Leader Backs Modified Ike Doctrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority leader Johnson (D-Tex) urged the Senate Tuesday to adopt the modified Middle East resolution and tell the Communists to "keep out" of that strategic area.

Submitted by President Eisenhower, the resolution was rewritten by the Senate's Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Johnson said that in its new form it serves notice that aggressive Communism will be opposed "not by just one man, and not by just one branch of government, but by the institutions representing the united will of the American people."

Republicans also got behind the resolution as the Senate opened what is expected to be a two-week debate on Middle Eastern policy.

'Effective'

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) said that while he thought Eisenhower's original language was more "effective" the revised resolution should make it apparent to Russia that "any aggression on her part will bring consequences which are both immediate and devastating."

In its present form the resolution expresses the readiness of the United States to use armed forces, at the President's discretion, against any military aggression in the Middle East by "any country controlled by international communism."

It also empowers the President to launch a 200 million dollar economic and military aid program for nations in the region.

Johnson coupled his support of the legislation with criticism of the administration for the way in which he said administration leaders presented it to Congress.

'Or Else'

No branch of government, the Democratic leader said, should try to "operate on a put up or shut up basis" and ask another branch to "do it my way, or else."

Congress is not a rubber stamp, Johnson asserted.

Originally Eisenhower asked for specific congressional "authority" to employ U.S. troops in the Middle East if necessary. The House voted him such authority last month, but the language was changed by the Senate committees to delete any specific mention of a grant of authority.

Soviet Premier Bulganin lashed out at the Eisenhower program Tuesday as a "colonial trap prepared by U.S. oil monopolies."

'Domination'

In a fiery Kremlin speech he told peoples of the Middle East that "insane plans for world domination" by the United States might plunge them into the "hell of atomic and hydrogen war."

There was no immediate reference to Bulganin's remarks in the Senate debate, but Saltonstall described the resolution as one "to prevent war and not to take aggressive steps."

The senator quoted Secretary of State Dulles as saying the new American policy would deprive the Communists of "much of their incentive to build up satellites in the area to be used, possibly, to attack other countries in the Middle East."

Robertson Case Problem: When Is Court Case Closed

When is a court case closed and when isn't it?

That's the problem members of a Legislative committee faced Tuesday afternoon as a first day hearing into an alleged game law violation by Game Commissioner Donald F. Robertson ended.

During the hearing, Raymond Morrissey, Johnson County attorney, declared that a charge against the game commissioner for allegedly shooting a quail from a road near Tecumseh Nov. 11, 1955, has not been dismissed and that the case is still pending in court.

The hearing will be continued at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

For details of the story, see Sports Editor Don Bryant's story on page 21.

$13 Million For Soil Bank:

26,000 Farmers Sign For Half-Million Acres

During the first week of sign-ups for the corn soil bank in Nebraska a total of 26,205 farmers made agreements involving 507,928 acres and $13,887,845.23, a little more than $2 million under the state's soil bank allotment.

However, the 61 commercial corn producing counties in the state are asking a total of $8,913,296 more than their allotments for additional acreage on the agreements.

Glen Umberger of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office said the office expects word Wednesday on how much more money the state will be allocated for counties which need more funds.

At least 33 counties have exhausted their funds and are asking for an additional total of $2 million for allowable acreas and $1 for acres above the allowable limits.

The state ASC office Tuesday sent a telegram to Washington giving the acreage reserve reports in hopes that the need in the counties would be stressed by the figures.

The acreage reserve sign-ups in the state were about half of the amount allowable on agreements.

Rape Charge Against Peery Is Dismissed

The Sarpy County District Court has dismissed a rape charge against Wesley H. Peery, 31, and ordered his release from the Nebraska Penitentiary.

District Judge John Dierks entered judgment Tuesday discharging Peery from the crime under a Supreme Court decision last Jan. 25 reversing Peery's conviction in the District Court.

Defense Atty. John R. Doyle's motion for dismissal of the charge on the Supreme Court mandate was not resisted by Sarpy County Atty. Dixon Adams.

Lack of Evidence

In a split decision, the high court had ruled Peery's conviction by a jury was "not supported by the evidence" and was "contrary to law."

Peery was charged with the rape of a Council Bluffs woman near Papillion on Jan. 21, 1956, following his arrest and reported identification by the woman involved.

Peery, formerly of 3281 Hitchcock, is presently confined at the State Penitentiary on the 10-year sentence pronounced on the rape conviction.

Warden Joseph Bovey may be served Wednesday with the necessary papers for Peery's discharge from the prison.

Lancaster Wants Him

However, Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp said Peery would remain at the prison "for safekeeping" in lieu of $5,000 bond on burglary and robbery charges pending in this county.

Peery's trial in Lancaster District Court was continued to the next jury on a motion last week that a defense witness was hospitalized and unable to testify.

In Lancaster County, he is charged in connection with the theft of a gun from the home of Asst. Lincoln Police Chief Eugene Masters and of taking money at gun point from Charles W. Winkler on Jan. 15, 1956.

13 Lobbyists Register; Total Way Over '55

Thirteen new lobbyists registered with the Secretary of State's office Tuesday bringing the total for the 1957 Legislature to 135 compared with the previous high of 85 registered during the 1955 session.

Leonard D. Bronder and Robert M. Armstrong, both of Lincoln, registered for the Nebraska Citizens Council, interested in legislation pertaining to "governmental organization, financing and taxation."

Five persons registered for the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn., interested in legislative bills 421, 438, 395, 535 and 553. These measures deal with brand inspection and records and taxes on grain and seed. Registering were: Ed Knivel of West Point, Don Magdanz of Omaha, Elden Plucknett of DeWitt, Leo Knievel and Hero Tadken of Firth.

Those registering for the Nebraska Stock Growers Association, interested in "any legislation pertaining to livestock" were: Ralph R. Baker of Valentine, Bern R. Coulter of Bridgeport, Robert M. Howard of Alliance and Don B. Reynolds of North Platte.

C. O. Emrich of Norfolk, registered for the Nebraska Livestock Auction Assn., interested in the brand bills "and such other bills as might affect the livestock industry."

Charles W. O'Rourke of Omaha, for Union Stockyards Co. of Omaha, interested in "any or all legislation relating to the livestock industry."

Historical Fund Hike Defended

Labor Cost, More Personnel Cited

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Increased labor costs and need for additional personnel were cited as reasons for a budget of $261,300 submitted by the State Historical Society.

The request was made Tuesday to the Legislature's Budget Committee.

Dr. W. D. Aeschbacher, society director, told the committee an unexpended balance of $7,700 would be available at the end of the present biennium for reappropriation. This was short, however, of the $18,000 included in the governor's budget recommendations to the Legislature.

J. E. Lawrence, editor of The Lincoln Star and past president of the Society, related to the committee that compliance with federal minimum wage laws—raising the wage from 75 cents an hour to $1 — had decreased the unexpended balance previously anticipated.

$7,000 Turned Back

Lawrence told the committee the Society had turned back to the state $7,000 in unexpended balance on the Society's building fund.

Aeschbacher reported the addition of one janitor and a clerk-typist had been made in the proposed budget. This had not been included in the governor's recommendations.

The director reported some 100,000 people went through the new Historical Society building during 1956.

Questioned on the operation of Ft. Robinson, which Society officials said was "thrust" on them, Aeschbacher said he anticipated increases in the fort's visitor attendance.

Tourist Spot

Former Sen. Art Carmody of Trenton, who was chairman of the Budget Committee and member of the Historical Society board, said local chambers of commerce in the west were boosting Ft. Robinson as a tourist spot.

The fort receives no money from the tourist visits, though, Aeschbacher said. The cabins are under the management of the Game Commission and the University of Nebraska Ag College handles the cattle feeding experiments now being conducted there.

Lawrence told the committee the Society is being "operated as economically as possible" adding "Nebraska is doing a good job at a minimum of expense."

West's Light Snow Moving On Eastward

Light snow fell in western Nebraska Tuesday and was expected to spread overnight across the state, missing only the extreme east.

Precipitation was expected to be light and no great temperature drop was forecast. Predicted high temperatures were 18 to 25 in the north and 25 to 30 in the south.

Highways were reported icy and covered with packed snow west of North Platte on U.S. 30 to Kimball, and west of McCook on U.S. 6 and U.S. 34, the State Safety Patrol said.

Poor driving conditions due to overcast skies, poor visibility and light snow were reported west of Kimball to the Wyoming border on U.S. 30 and on State 29.

Only the Lincoln Air Base, Omaha and Grand Island reported temperatures as high as the freezing mark Tuesday. Chadron had a low of 12 degrees and a high of only 17.

Crippled Woman, Custodian Die In Elevator Mishap

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The head custodian and a crippled woman student were killed Tuesday in an elevator accident at Kansas City Junior College.

They were August E. Olson, 65, and Patricia Dowell, 23.

Miss Dowell, crippled by cerebral palsy, used hand canes and had poor vision. Police said she apparently stumbled while entering the elevator at the sub-basement level and Olson reached out to help her. Olson apparently tripped the starting lever accidentally and the elevator rose.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Mostly cloudy with occasional light snow and little temperature change through Thursday. Snow likely mixed with some freezing drizzle west through Wednesday night. Highs Wednesday 18-25 north, 25-32 south.

KANSAS: Occasional rain, drizzle extreme south and occasional light snow elsewhere Wednesday through Thursday. Chance freezing drizzle extreme west Wednesday. High Wednesday 40 south, 30s elsewhere.

Double Dollar Days Event Again Offered In Lincoln

Shoppers from three states are expected to be drawn by the bargains offered by Lincoln retailers during the Double Dollar Days shopping event Wednesday and Thursday.

Downtown stores will feature special new merchandise priced at $1 or multiples thereof, along with fall and winter merchandise at bargain prices.

Store hours during the event, which has proven so popular in past years, will be 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Merchants point out that Lincoln has had a tremendous increase in parking facilities in the downtown area during the last several years.

8,283 Spaces Downtown

A recent survey set the number of available parking spaces—off-street and parking stalls — at 8,283 in the main downtown area. This gives Lincoln a low-ratio of "cars per parking stall."

Other innovations which will facilitate ease in reaching the downtown area are the one-way arterials north and south on 16th and 17th and 9th and 10th Sts.; the recently-opened Southeast Diagonal, and the new O Street viaduct.

Lincoln's first Dollar Day was staged in 1921 and the event has been continuous every year except for the World War II period.

Double Dollar Days chairman is Robert Durrie. The event is sponsored by the Lincoln Promotion Council.

Bills Pass; City Sewer Change To Be Swift

...Fee To Be Fixed Soon

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Contracts for the transfer of Sanitary District 1 sewer properties and responsibilities, and enactment of a sewer-usage fee, will follow quickly Tuesday's passage by the Legislature of bills affecting the sewer program.

Bills to permit the transfer and clarifying authority for issuance of sewer revenue bonds have now passed the Legislature.

"As far as I am concerned," said Mayor Bennett Martin, "we will move right along with our program. I feel that the solution to this sewer problem has been a major accomplishment of my administration."

Importance Cited

Martin cited the importance attached to the sewer program by former Mayor Clark Jeary when he left office a year ago. Martin has been particularly instrumental in securing the co-operation of all parties concerned toward a satisfactory conclusion of the sewer program.

A $4 million sewer improvement plan has been recommended by Black & Veatch, Kansas City, Mo., engineering firm.

Contracts with the District for transfer of its property to the city must be prepared, said City Attorney Jack Pace, and the District will have to hold public hearings on the proposed documents.

Consulting engineers for Lincoln, Hoskins & Associated, have been retained and are expected to submit a useage fee schedule early next month.

The fee would pay off revenue bonds sold to finance the improvements. The transfer of the District's sewage treatment plant and sewer responsibilities has been advocated to bring all operations under one head and thus present a better bond offering for interest rate purposes.

New Law Lets City Take Over

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Final approval was given by the Legislature to LB 141 which allows the city of Lincoln to take over operation of Sanitary District 1.

A companion measure, LB 142, which would allow the city to issue revenue bonds for major sewer expansion, was passed Monday by the Legislature.

LB 141 received a 40-0 vote in its passage and with the emergency clause attached becomes law when signed by the governor.

This is anticipated either Wednesday or Thursday.

Drop Mill Levy

Under provisions of LB 141, the city can now take over the complete sewer operation of the Sanitary District and will drop the 1.75 mill levy for sewer construction.

Also, payment of revenue bonds used for expansion of the present system—a building program of around $4 million is anticipated—would be placed on a sewer-use fee basis.

All three Lincoln senators backed the two measures. They are Sens. Otto Liebers, Stan Portsche, and Fred Waggoner.

During public hearings on LB 141, backers said raw sewage now is being dumped into Salt Creek because of the overloaded condition of city sewers. There was no opposition to either bill.

Resolutions by both the city and board members of the District backed the move.

NREA President Sees 'No Serious Problems'

By BARBARA HEMPHILL
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska Rural Electric Association President Ray Lowery of Oak believes "no serious problems" will come up at the annual meeting here, since "most problems of the past have been solved and the districts unified."

With 31 of the 36 rural power districts and associations in the state now members, he said, indications are that business taken up at the two-day meeting at the Lincoln Hotel will be "mostly routine."

An important point that will be brought before the resolutions committee, Lowery said, is the bill Sen. Carl Curtis of Minden plans to present to Congress to eliminate the requirement that the REA administrator retain 25 per cent of all appropriations for use in non-electrified areas only.

The NREA is expected to support the bill, Lowery said, because by now only very small areas remain non-electrified.

Reports Thursday

The resolutions committee will meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday and Frank Haumont of Weissert will present its report just before installation of officers closes the annual meeting Thursday afternoon.

About 150 NREA members and their wives arrived in Lincoln Tuesday evening for executive board and regional meetings. Registration is expected to near 500 Wednesday.

Lowery, who is secretary of the South Central Membership Association at Nelson, said Tuesday night he believes the drought has had some effect on the welfare of the rural districts.

Need for more power will continue to increase regardless of drought, he said, but the number of consumers may decrease if the drought continues.

New Pact 'Fair'

Lowery said the fact that 26 cost-of-service customers (rural districts) in the eastern two-thirds of the state have signed a new rate agreement with the Nebraska Public Power System indicates the new contract is "fair to all concerned."

The new pact, to go into effect in 1959, raises from $1.35 to $1.50 the cost of service for every $1 of NPPS debt charge.

That power cost increase, amounting to about .3 mill per kilowatt hour, will partly offset the amount of money saved by the low-cost two per cent loan the REA granted to Nebraska public power agencies Monday, Lowery said.

The $26 million in REA loans includes $17 million for construction of a steam generating plant of the Central Public Power and Irrigation District at Lexington, plus funds for extension of the NPPS transmission system.

New Pattern?

The new low-cost REA loan, which requires a 35-year contract with the rurals, may indirectly have an effect on setting a new pattern in the Nebraska public power picture, Lowery said.

He believes the new contract "makes it possible that future additional power requirements of the rurals may be financed by REA funds through a state generation and transmission setup."

The new contract, he pointed out, provides for a board of managers including representatives of the municipal power districts, rurals, Central PPID and NPPS, with a reorganization of the arrangement by which the Loup and Platte Power and Irrigation Districts form NPPS.

Dag Sends A Top Aide To Mideast

...Trouble-Shooting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Dag Hammarskjold Tuesday ordered one of his top aides to the Middle East on a trouble-shooting mission regarding the reported Egyptian slowdown on clearance operations in the Suez Canal.

The Secretary General announced that Col. Alfred Katzin, U.N. deputy under secretary in charge of Suez salvage work, will leave for Egypt Wednesday for consultations with U.N. and Egyptian officials. He will remain there for about a week.

Katzin is expected to look into reports that Egypt is holding up progress in clearing the Suez Canal of remaining wrecks until Israel fully complies with U.N. resolutions and pulls its troops unconditionally out of the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba area.

First Step

The Western big three powers and Norway, at the same time, took the first step to head off a threatening deadlock on international passage through the Suez Canal once the waterway is reopened to navigation this spring.

Representatives of the four powers called on Hammarskjold with a jointly-drafted formula for referral to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, whose government has refused to deal directly with Britain and France as a consequence of the Anglo-French invasion last October.

Hammarskjold met privately with Fawzi to discuss the situation.

The U.S., Britain and France acted as the U.N.Assembly bided its time until Thursday or later on the "sanctions" session on Israel's refusal to comply with U.N. withdrawal demands.

A. C. Richardson Dies In Detroit

A. C. (Clark) Richardson of Detroit, former Lincoln resident for over 30 years, died there recently. Funeral services will be Saturday in Detroit.

Mr. Richardson is the son of Mrs. Waneta Bunting Richardson of 2919 So. 27th, and the late A. W. Richardson, Lincoln attorney who died in November.

He attended the University of Nebraska.

Included among the survivors, besides his mother are his wife, in Detroit; brother, Capt. William M. Richardson of Washington, D.C. and a sister, Mrs. Mildred F. Schaaf of Hastings.

Visit Pondered

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said he is keeping in mind Soviet Premier Bulganin's invitation to visit Moscow in May.

"I have informed Mr. Bulganin, through the Soviet ambassador, that I will keep in mind his suggestion of a new date for a visit to Moscow," he told the House of Commons. "I also informed him that when it seemed possible to fix such a date I would communicate with him again."

'Force' Planned

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Premier Sabri Assali said the Arab states will "use force to compel Israel to withdraw from Gaza and Sharm El Sheikh."

"President Eisenhower," Assali told newsmen, "might have realized the seriousness of the situation which threatens to explode new hostilities when he interrupted his vacation and flew back to Washington to handle the Middle East crisis."

17-Year-Old Admits Killing His Parents

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy told police Tuesday how he emptied a rifle at his mother and his stepfather, whose bodies were found in their Wichita Falls, Tex., home Sunday.

There were 16 bullets in the rifle, said James Clifford Parks, 17, arrested Monday night. Luther E. Parks, 34, was shot 10 times and Mrs. Eunice Parks, 33, six times.

Asked the reason for the killings, the boy said in a statement:

"Well, they never let me do anything I wanted to — as far back as I can remember."

Parks was arrested as he returned across the border from Tijuana, Mexico. Sheriff's deputies picked him up as a curfew violator. He gave his and his parents' true names when booked at Juvenile Hall.

Runaway

The deputies thought he was nothing more than a runaway until one of them got home at 3 a.m. and read a newspaper account of the Texas slaying.

Parks was then booked on the Texas murder charge and held for Wichita Falls officers.

After Parks was shown the newspaper, which also had a picture of his parents, he gave this statement to Sheriff's Lt. Tom Isbell:

"They (his folks) had been arguing all day Saturday and that night we were watching TV and a few blows were struck, and they started arguing at me because I hadn't planted some trees.

"I asked him (his stepfather) Saturday to help me get a car and he wouldn't do it. Then, that night they started arguing with me. When we was ready for bed they were still arguing. I went in there and got the gun and started shooting."

'Copter Eyed To Take Ike Over Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP)—A helicopter service to take President Eisenhower from the White House to National Airport for his frequent plane trips is under consideration, the White House said Tuesday night.

Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, said preliminary studies of the project are being made by the Air Force. He declined to go into any details.

But it was learned from informed sources that the idea is to run the helicopter service from the White House lawn to the airport, probably a trip of just a few minutes.

It would save time compared to automobile runs to the airport, which usually take from 10 to 20 minutes. But the main reason for use of helicopters is that the President would like to avoid tieup of Washington traffic caused by his motorcade trips to the airport and his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Other Trips

The principal use would be for airport hops, but use of helicopters on other trips has not been ruled out.

One dimming factor is that Mrs. Eisenhower does not like to fly and never makes trips in anything but the big four-engine planes.

Use of helicopters for possible evacuation of the President from the White House in any national emergency has figured in the planning of those handling security problems.

The current project is under the supervision of Col. William G. Draper, the president's pilot and Air Force aide.

11-Story Building Collapses In Rio; Two Feared Dead

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A condemned 11-story building tumbled down on a narrow downtown street Tuesday and barely missed taking a heavy toll in rush hour crowds.

A large force of firemen dug through rubble in the street, on a report two passersby were buried. Seventeen persons in the street were struck by flying debris.

Authorities said occuupants of the building had fled before the building fell about 5 p.m.

Tons of concrete and bricks crashed into crowded Rua Rosario, in the waterfront area.

In its fall, the old structure tore out the 2-story side wall of an adjoining building. Firemen broke up piles of masonry 2 to 7 feet high with sledge hammers so it could be hauled away.

Blast Rocks Armstrong's Jazz Concert

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A dynamite explosion reverberated Tuesday night through a municipal building where Negro Louis Armstrong's band was playing a concert to a segregated, white and Negro audience.

The blast, apparently from a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, tore a four-foot hole in mud about 200 feet from the building. Otherwise, it did no damage and barely disrupted the concert as the noise echoed through Chilhowee Park Administration Building.

"That's all right, folks," the Negro trumpeter quipped. "It's just the phone."

The explosion came shortly after Armstrong and his four-piece combo and girl singer had returned from an intermission. At the time, the combo was knocking itself out on "Backo' Town Blues."

A few persons got up to go outside to look at the blast scene, but most of the audience of about 3,000—police estimated there were 2,000 whites and 1,000 Negroes, well segregated — stayed put as Armstrong went on with the show.

Chick Production Takes Slight Drop

Commercial hatcheries in Nebraska produced 665,000 chicks during January, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Tuesday, down slightly from the 678,000 produced during the same period a year ago.

The drop in Nebraska production compared with a five per cent national increase, the division reported.

The slight Nebraska decline was believed caused by a sharp decrease in broilers, 80,000 reported for January, compared with 138,000 a year ago.

An eight per cent increase of non-broilers held the total state production from further decline, according to the division.

Top Jobless Pay Increased To $32

The Legislature Tuesday gave final approval to a bill revising and raising the payment schedule under Nebraska's Employment Security law. Maximum payment for unemployment was raised from $28 to $32 per week.

The measure, LB 49, introduced by Omaha Sens. Charles Tvrdik and Karl Vogel, passed 40-0 on final reading, with the emergency clause attached.

Other bills passed on final reading included LB's 268 and 260 which authorize the governor to return to Scottsbluff and Crete, respectively, certain land excess to armory needs. Both passed 40-0 with emergency clauses attached.

Air Conditioning For All Courthouse Certain

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Air conditioning of all Lancaster County Courthouse offices and courtrooms was assured Tuesday with the purchase of additional window units by the County Board.

Contracts totaling $7,101.50 for 24 one-ton units and seven two-ton units were awarded to three of the nine bidders.

Franklin's Home Furnishings Co. and Barth's Hardware were awarded a joint contract for 14 one-ton units at $2,772 and seven two-ton units at $2,275.

As only 14 one-ton units were available on this bid, the board purchased the additional 10 units needed from two other bidders.

Five one-ton units were purchased each from Paramount Supply Co. at $1,074.75 and from Lincoln TV Center at $979.75.

The board said the cooling-capacity ratings of the various units offered were studied in selecting the best bids.

Last year, only the major offices and two courtrooms were cooled.

50-50 Split Of Suez Tolls Is Proposed

...Half For Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States, Britain, France and Norway transmitted Tuesday to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold proposals for a temporary arrangement for use of the Suez Canal. He is expected to pass them on to Egypt.

This was reported by authoritative sources after representatives of those four countries held a 30-minute conference with Hammarskjold. The delegates would say only they saw Hammarskjold for an exchange of views on an interim arrangement for the canal.

The arrangement suggested by the four countries to Hammarskjold was reported to contain two main points. One called for sharing canal tolls on a 50-50 basis with Egypt once the waterway is cleared and the other for use of the canal by all countries.

Egypt has remained officially silent on the question of the canal but informed sources said Egypt is threatening to keep the canal closed by holding up clearance until Israeli troops have left all of Egypt.

30 Lincoln Area Pastors Attend Pre-Lent Retreat

More than 30 Lincoln area pastors attended a pre-Lenten retreat held at First Lutheran Church by the National Lutheran Council of Churches.

Dr. Edgar M. Carlson, president of Gustavus Adolphus College of St. Peter, Minn. gave two lectures to the group on "The Hazards of Lent" and "The Word of the Cross."

Dr. Carlson warned the ministers not to let the success of numbers detract from the spiritual significance of the Lenten season. He also stressed the danger of spiritualizing and secularizing an historical event without attention to the reality of it.

The Rev. J. Sabin Swenson, minister of First Lutheran, was director of the one-day annual retreat which drew ministers from Omaha, Stromsburg, Wahoo, Fremont and other area towns.

Postal Workers' Group President Blasts Chamber

Ralph E. Applequist, president of the Lincoln Branch of the National Postal Transport Association, has charged the national Chamber of Commerce head with a "regrettable lack of understanding of salaried workers."

John S. Coleman, president of the U.S. Chamber, recently said that a postal pay raise was "unjustified" and that it was an "emotional drive that must be resisted."

Applequist said, "It's difficult to be unemotional about our families' welfare, which is largely dependent on the adequacy of our salaries.

"Oddly enough," he said, "the Chamber of Commerce head is opposing a postal pay raise while advocating the need for an efficient mail service."

House Veterans Unit Votes Against Tapping NSLI Reserve For Home Loans

Plan Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Veterans Committee Tuesday voted against tapping National Service Life Insurance reserves as a source of direct government housing loans to veterans.

Chairman Teague (D-Tex) said the proposal raised so many questions it was shelved, at least for the present.

"Future action is not foreclosed," he said.

The same committee Monday voted down an Eisenhower administration bill to increase the maximum interest rate on GI home loans from 4½ to 5 per cent.

Some Democrats had proposed using some service insurance reserves to increase the supply of funds available for veterans home loans. The administration contends a higher interest rate would make more funds available.

Double

President Eisenhower also has asked Congress to nearly double the amount of money which the Federal National Mortgage Assn. (Fannie Mae) can use to buy government-backed home loans on the secondary market.

This proposal was trimmed Tuesday by the Senate Housing subcommittee, which cut in half the amount of money Eisenhower wants Congress to approve.

As approved by the Senate group, the measure provides an increase of 50 million dollars in Fannie Mae's capitalization, instead of 100 millions as Eisenhower asked.

Since the agencys borrowing authority is 10 times its capitalization, such an increase would give Fannie Mae an additional 500 million dollars for its mortgage operations.

Private Lenders

Fannie Mae provides a secondary market for government-backed mortgages when money is not available from private lenders.

The legislation now goes to the Senate Banking Committee.

The House Banking Committee already has approved the 50 million dollar figure and the bill is scheduled for House debate Wednesday.

Eisenhower asked quick action on the bill because of the tight money situation.

Teague said his House committee has not completed action on the GI housing program. He said he'll propose that veterans be permitted to obtain home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) at 5 per cent interest. But Teague would stipulate that they would get such loans under present GI terms which permit lower down payments and a longer time to pay off.

Rep. Ayers (R-Ohio) said if this plan is voted down, he will reoffer the proposal to raise the interest rate on GI loans to 5 per cent.

Pollution Bill Hashed Over, Then Lumped

The much-debated water pollution control bill was hashed over again in the Legislature and it came out amended and lumped with other tax increase bills.

A minor amendment introduced by Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City was passed.

The bill, LB 118, would create a pollution control council and would put the state in line for matching federal funds that would total more than $650,000 a year.

Sen. Terry Carpenter said he was told by Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, the measure would cost $35,000 just for administration of the control agency.

But Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian said he doubted the act would cost more than $5,000 a year at the outset. The funds for the council were not included in the governor's recommended budget to the Legislature.

And because of a motion to hold bills costing more than $5,000, the bill was held for further consideration. Action on it is expected to be taken Wednesday.

Aufenkamp said Tuesday the governor had informed him his budget has enough "cushion" to take care of the bill's cost.

End Of A Surplus

Agriculture Secretary Benson said in Washington Monday that within two or three years he believes the government can dispose of all of its accumulated surpluses of farm products if current trends continue.

Then, he added, this would give a buoyancy to agricultural prices and help farmers achieve a fair share of the national income. The 1956 farm income, Mr. Benson asserted, could have been 20 per cent higher except for "excess production and the overhanging surpluses."

Farmers in the Middle West, battling both reduced farm prices and drought, no doubt will be overjoyed at the news. Fact is, the last four years under Mr. Benson have seen the farmer experience greater trouble with accumulating surpluses, it would appear, than in all the rest of the operation of the farm program.

But in the field of prophecy, the question in thousands of cases is not disappearance of surpluses two or three years hence but whether the farmer and his family can hang on that long. There is reason to believe that a careful check of the number of farmers compelled to toss in the sponge would reveal a surprisingly large number. Mr. Benson is always going to get the farmer back on solid ground but never quite gets the job done.

Obscured Problem

February's warm pleasant days have been a boon to lovers of the outdoors but they are heightening the concern of the state's crop producers.

While they have permitted early field work and pre-irrigation in preparation for spring planting they have posed problems for the wintering crops. Federal crop observers refer to the continued drought and speak of the deterioration of winter wheat. Erosion of the dry soil together with the hazard of starting spring growth too soon with insufficient moisture bodes no good they say.

This is a reminder that Nebraska still awaits firm proof that the sustained period of drought is ending and until that proof arrives agricultural planning must think in terms of immediate past seasons rather than toward one of normal abundance.

It is also tending to obscure a more persistent problem—the question of what to do after the drought is broken. It is becoming increasingly clear that those areas of Nebraska well established in the use of irrigation and the know-how that goes with it are setting new levels of production that are considerable higher than those where normally abundant rainfall forms the basis of yield. This disparity is going to exist after the rains come. Unmanaged moisture is not going to be enough to solve the problem.

It is becoming more apparent that eastern Nebraska needs forthwith to address earnest thought to greater diversification new concepts and new methods of farming if it hopes to recover the ground lost by the problems of drought, production and marketing plus an uninspired and too frequently unsuited federal farm program.

Casualties Mar Week End

Three Nebraska residents met death over the week end in car accidents. In Lincoln where one of them occurred it was the first such death in 1957.

Such a toll was a blow to the state's resolve to rid itself of roadside tragedy. And it was significant that none of the accidents involved the open road.

Despite the momentary emphasis on city driving it is pertinent to the general cause of highway safety to regard the innovation in general speed limits presently under study by the Missouri legislature. Plagued there, too, with far too many highway tragedies the legislature is questioning, whether uniform speed limits provide the best answer.

It is not that Missouri is considering raising speed limits or leaving them up to the judgment and discretion of drivers, as in the latter instance Kansas does. Missouri is considering an adjustment of speed limits based on the relative hazards of the road in question. Stretches of highway containing death traps would invoke curtailed speed adjusted to fit the need while there would be considerable relaxation of speed limits over stretches of little hazard.

To a considerable extent this principle has been applied to city driving with improved results. Certainly it would be judicious to post feeder roads for slow speed near points of juncture with main highways and otherwise control traffic at points where the accident history indicates more than usual hazard.

Nebraska to some extent has posted sections of highways but not to the extent contemplated by Missouri. This state still relies largely on a uniform speed limit.

Guatemala Visit

A six-man congressional team headed by Rep. Carnahan of Missouri is in Guatemala looking things over.

This is doubly interesting. It couldn't be a junket because congressmen don't junket in places like Guatemala. This is a work trip. Moreover, Guatemala is the Central American country where a revolution began two years ago aimed at establishing a Communist beachhead. The revolution was liquidated and the United States moved in to support President Castillo-Armas in making the country a democratic showplace. Congress helped it along with a $15 million aid appropriation ending this coming June.

The delegation has gone to Guatemala to see how the democratic showcase is doing, how democratic it is and how well it has spent the $15 million. No one would be so unrealistic as to believe that a spot gift of $15 million could transform a backward country into a shining example of a prosperous and enlightened democracy, but the investigation certainly will have a great bearing on this nation's future programs for its southern neighbors.

Commission Acts

Conservation and recreation-minded Nebraskans had a red letter day when the State Game Commission came to two decisions.

One was in favor of the purchase of 240 acres of land on Verdigre Creek near Royal. The other was in approval of the $275,000 Burchard Lake project in Pawnee County. The actions were in support of a plan for use of some $400,000 in available federal funds.

Both projects gained important ground by the Commission's decision, albeit the action was not one of clearing the final hurdle. Fulfillment hinges on favorable legislative action on the measure to increase hunting and fishing license fees. The latter will be a source of state dollar matching funds.

Development and improvement of such resources are important steps in the improvement of Nebraska at once enhancing it as a vacation area and rendering Nebraska a better and more attractive place in which to live.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Rep. A. L. Miller of the Fourth Nebraska District is at this time following his customary practice of taking the pulse of the home folks. Each year he sends out a questionnaire to a representative number of people in his district soliciting their views on the questions giving Washington a headache.

★

One of the questions which "Doc" submits is a doodle. He asks his constituency this: "Should postal rates meet expenses?" Now, if that does not qualify for administering a bitter pill with a thick sugar coating, then we will give up. The busy reader may have missed it but recently the news columns carried a story out of Washington to the effect that the postal deficit was approaching the rate of a billion dollars annually. The question, then, if that is the case, is, should postal rates be hiked a billion dollars a year in order that the department get itself back in the black? The postal department always has been operating at a loss—at least it seems that is the way it has been—and the public has become accustomed to picking up the check covering the deficit. But under Postmaster General Summerfield, that postal deficit has been growing and growing until today it is at an all-time high.

With Sugar Coating

One of the chief appeals of the postal service in this country has been that rates have remained within the reach of every citizen. Miller has other questions, naturally. He would have the people tell him where they would cut the budget. The best answer to that is that Ike, his Budget Bureau and the secretary of the treasury from the vantage point of Washington should be able to tell about cuts more than the home folks 1,500 miles from the national capital.

★

It will be interesting to note the reaction of Miller's constituency to federal aid to education. It is not a partisan issue. Both Democrats and Republicans have supported federal aid to education. We doubt that the public is as enthusiastic about it as a very vocal school group would have the country believe. At this time Nebraskans look upon the Eisenhower highway program for a network linking the principal cities of the 48 states with cold and fishy eye. Then there is this question of Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood. About the only opposition to that is in Congress itself and particularly within the organization of one of the two major political parties. There is not anything mysterious out this way in present feeling. People want to see the Eisenhower administration practicing instead of talking economy.

Federal Aid To Education

★

If the American people are going to dig down into their pockets to pay for a 40-thousand-mile interstate highway system, then Sen. Neuberger's bill to restrict billboards is very much in order. Less stringent than it was last year, he would encourage states to acquire rights up to 500 feet from the highway and ban outright all unsightly billboards on highways passing through federal land. That would go a part of the way to prevent the federally financed super highway from being choked with hucksterism and honky-tonk.

It Worked

Sometimes most of us feel like the fellow Bob Considine, INS writer, told about. He sat musing, sad and lonely one day without a friend. A voice came out of the gloom advising: "Cheer up, things could be worse." The fellow cheered up and sure enough things got worse.

Army Will Keep Funeral Horses

WASHINGTON — A lot of people had a hand in saving the seventeen army funeral horses at Ft. Myer, Va., including General George C. Marshall and a little girl in Wayne, Me. But the man who really saved them was the commander-in-chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here is the inside story of what happened.

The man who chiefly wanted to get rid of the horses was the secretary of defense, Charles E. Wilson, who has spent his life building horseless carriages and who is definitely anti-horse. He also has a mad on against the Veterinarian Corps, and ordered a survey of all the animals in the army to see how many were really needed and why we needed any vets to care for them.

The survey showed 116 horses, 314 mules, and 950 dogs left in the army. It also showed that horse-drawn funerals were considerably more expensive than motorized hearses. At this point and without waiting for an order from Secretary Wilson, General Wilkiston Palmer, vice chief of staff, ordered the end of horse-drawn funerals at Ft. Myer. General Maxwell Taylor, the Army's chief of staff, was absent at the time.

The reasons General Palmer moved without an OK from above, according to Pentagon sources, is that he knew Secretary Wilson was anti-horse. His Pentagon critics also claim that General Palmer was angling for the post of chief of staff after General Taylor's retirement.

At any rate, he signed the order.

LITTLE GIRL'S PLEA

Then came the reaction. Some of the reactions came from this column. Following its publication, Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, potent chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, was deluged with letters. One which particularly touched Vinson came from Paula Swasey of Wayne, Me., who wrote:

"Dear Rep. Vinson: I am ten years old. I have always wanted a horse. I read in the newspaper where you might have to get rid of the 17 army horses. If you have to get rid of them, I would like to have one.

"I would take good care of it because I love horses.

"Sincerely yours,
Paula Swasey"

Touched by the letter, Congressman Vinson wrote back:

"Dear Paula: I wish it were within my power to give one of the army horses to a fine young lady like you, because I know you would give it a good home. But they are not mine to give.

"So while I regret that I cannot send you one of the horses, I'm sure that you would be just as happy if you knew that the horses would continue to be used in keeping with one of our great traditions in honor of our deceased military heroes.

"I shall do everything I can to make that possible."

☆ ☆ ☆

HORSES' BEST FRIEND

He did. However, other potent persons were also working on behalf of the army horses, one of them being General George C. Marshall, former chief of staff and former secretary of defense. He called the White House and asked to speak to the man who used to take wartime orders from him.

At this point the President himself intervened. He ordered horse-drawn funerals at Ft. Myer continued. It was just as simple as that.

NOTE — One aftermath of the "battle of the Ft. Myer horses" is that General Palmer, who ordered them out of the army, is going to be out of the army himself. It may be reversed later. But as of this writing, the plan is to retire Palmer. He, instead of the Ft. Myer funeral horses, will be put out to pasture.

Curious Measure For Wrong Doing

WASHINGTON—The psychology of the Eisenhower administration with respect to accusations of wrong-doing has long seemed to be that there is nothing either good nor bad, but publicity makes it so.

Harold Talbott had to quit under fire as secretary of the Air Force, but it was explained that he was a very honest man and the President gave him a medal. More recently Robert L. Ross resigned as assistant secretary of defense while under similar charges of improperly using his influence for private profit. Ross hasn't got a medal, but the Pentagon firmly insists there is no stain on his character.

In at least two instances, however, the administration has quietly recorded its own condemnation of deals and officials that in public it defended to the last gasp.

One is the Al Sarena mining case. The other is the speculations in oil stock made by Judge Stanley Barnes when an assistant attorney-general in charge of the anti-trust division. Barnes' then first assistant, Edward Foote, was also involved in the speculation matter.

☆ ☆ ☆

The story of Al Sarena was developed by a joint Senate-House investigating committee. Former Interior Undersecretary Clarence Davis had awarded a mining firm of that name 23 mining patents, covering 454 acres of timberland in the Rogue River National Forest in southern Oregon.

The firm mined no minerals but cut timber valued by the investigators at $300,000. The committee called it a giveaway and questioned the validity of a special assay ordered by Davis. This showed sufficient mineral possibilities.

☆ ☆ ☆

Davis was stoutly defended by his superior, the then Secretary Douglas McKay, and by the White House. Since then McKay has been beaten in his race to displace Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, Al Sarena being one of the issues pressed by Morse. Davis resigned last month.

It now transpires that McKay's successor, Fred Seaton, has rewritten departmental regulations and handed down decisions which would bar actions of the Davis-Al Sarena type. The new administrative procedure, according to interested congressmen, will save Seaton from any such embarrassments.

Seaton has never admitted fault on the part of either Davis or McKay. Similarly, Attorney-General Brownell has defended Judge Barnes and Foote for their purchases of Warren Petroleum Company stock in the fall of 1955.

Now the Justice rules have been rewritten to define speculation as a stock or bond investment lasting less than six months. Thus Barnes and Foote would be wrong now just as Davis would be barred from doing that which he was warmly defended for doing.

Space Flight Now Matter Of Desire

Space, and how to navigate through it, is the chief concern of 200 leading military, industrial and university brains now gathered in San Diego. The lurid space fiction of the recent past becomes routine business when such men gather.

"Flight beyond the earth's influence has become technologically feasible," says Brig. Gen. Hollingsworth F. Gregory, commander of the Air Force Office of Scientific Research. "Should we so desire and should we be willing to bear the great cost, instrumented flights into space are possible.

"Certainly we could put a space vehicle on the moon within five years, provided we want to do it . . ."

U.S. foreign service personnel and especially their wives look forward each year of their overseas service to the release of a State Department handbook which shows which grade each person is in, and thereby indicates his salary. It is the social register of that calling.

It got to be a little too much for a career man who had been kept at a U.S. legation in Africa a bit too long. He resigned not long ago. He and his wife threw the usual farewell party, fed the legation people the usual warm cocktails and purple canapes, and then led them to the dining room.

There were no place cards! The guests were as stunned as if they had been asked to pay.

"Oh, just seat yourselves according to your salaries," the wife purred. "You all know what they are."

Scandinavian airlines will open a Copenhagen-North Pole-Anchorage-Tokyo route this week with the new longer-ranged DC-7C. For those who might welcome a little reassurance that flying over the pole can be fun, the company has released some rather arresting statistics:

Clouds over the pole seldom climb higher than 10,000 feet. In the tropics they can build up to 50,000. Wind velocities seldom exceed 30 mph, whereas they get up to better than 200 elsewhere. There's little rain or snow. At 30,000 feet, air temperature is about the same as over Europe and North America. (The lowest temperature ever recorded, 130 degrees below, fahrenheit, was measured at 55,000 feet over Java—of all places.) And one last recommendation: there's no dust at the north pole.

U.S. Fumbles With Nasser Problem

WASHINGTON—The position of extraordinary power held by President Gamal Abdel Nasser can no longer be ignored by the government in Washington. Not even the most wishful thinkers can any longer cling to the hope that in the end he will be a good boy and do what the West wants him to do.

Dulles

With the backing of Soviet Russia Nasser means to control the traffic in the Suez Canal when it is opened, and he can set that date ahead indefinitely and thereby work extraordinary harm on the West and the Western Alliance.

By so doing, he achieves two ends that have been the basic objectives of Soviet foreign policy since 1946. The economic effect on Western Europe is serious. But even more important, the strain on the alliance is increasingly grave as the United States appears helpless to bring Nasser around to reason.

☆ ☆ ☆

Here again the facts of life can no longer be glossed over by wishful thinking. The resentment in Paris and London is increasing, with the question put more and more bluntly to Washington: when are you going to use your power and influence to bring Nasser into line?

☆ ☆ ☆

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles could give Israel his "assurance" that traffic in the Gulf of Aqaba would be free for all shipping. But he could not say, because he did not know, that Nasser would agree to it.

There is an interesting sequence of events that throws light on this situation.

Shortly before Dulles put forward his plan to persuade Israel to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and the area around the Gulf of Aqaba, American Ambassador Raymond Hare in Cairo had a three-hour talk with Nasser. The belief here is that he was trying to get Nasser's pledge in advance to go along with this plan. But that he failed is evidenced by the fact that Dulles, in his initial talk with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, made it clear he could not of his own knowledge claim to know what Nasser would do.

Whether Egypt would have respected the "innocent passage" that Dulles tried to assure is not at all clear, and what the United States would have done in the event that Israeli ships had been stopped was so uncertain that the Israeli government felt compelled to reject the Dulles "assurance."

In addition, of course, the Israelis were fearful that withdrawal from the Gaza Strip would open the way to a resumption of the commando raids that took a heavy toll in Israel border communities.

But beyond this was the Israeli demand for some indication that their ships could pass through the Suez Canal when it is reopened. Since the United States cannot give such an assurance even to Britain and France, it is obvious that that request is quite beyond the capabilities of the American government.

What must also be faced up to is that Nasser's capacity for making further trouble between the western allies has only just begun. Reports from Cairo tell of his adding up the bill for reparations he intends to present to Britain and France. The news stories indicate that the bill will be large and inclusive. If it is not paid, the ships of those two countries will be kept out of the canal.

One word for this is blackmail. Nasser has very great resources in this field. Moscow is apparently providing just enough economic assistance to keep the Egyptian economy going. So long as he is sustained, so long will he use his strategic position to cripple the West and spread the discord that is so destructive to western unity.

It is time to speak some blunt truths. Not since the end of World War II has Soviet Russia been in such a favorable position to achieve its major objectives—to divide and destroy the Western Alliance. And so far as one reporter can determine, no one here in Washington seems to know what to do about it.

Justice In Taxation

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Nebraska's revenue problem is two-dimensional. One consideration is the appropriate "height" of government expenditures—that is, the total amount the state should rightly spend. The other is a width problem; it concerns the spreading or distribution of the resulting tax burden among the people.

These are not unrelated matters. Barring constitutional limits, it is obvious that a state or any other government can spend as much as taxpayers are willing to contribute. And taxpayer support is more likely to be forthcoming when the tax system is generally regarded as fair and reasonable than when it is not so regarded.

The whole history of state governments in recent times could be summarized as an almost continuous search for money. Without exception, costs of all state and local governments have mounted steadily for the last decade and more; it is continually more difficult to finance even their traditional functions. In addition, governments are impelled by the increasing complexity of an expanding society to assume new functions. There is no reason at all to expect any early reversal of this trend, and the best estimate of the future is that state and local governments, which are no more immune than individuals are to changes in the national price level, will continue to need more money and not less.

Therefore the distribution of the tax burden is important now and will become more so later. When taxes are low relative to income, nobody is greatly concerned about being fairly taxed. But when taxes become burdensome, equity becomes important to people who formerly gave it little thought. So a spate of proposals to "broaden" the tax base" and thereby "improve the tax structure" follows on the heels of every sizable enlargement of government functions.

Unfortunately, mere change does not always result in betterment. In particular, changes in tax legislation impinge on so many people in so many different ways that their effects are never fully predictable. Especially is this true of changes made hastily and in a spirit of temporizing and easy expediency. Thus it is probably to the long-run interests of everybody that the sales tax, so called, appears to have been sidetracked. Its adoption would have essentially meant substituting a productive but glaringly inequitable tax for one that is less productive but also less unrelated to ability to pay, namely the property tax. Both are bad taxes in nearly every respect because they are founded on false assumptions, but there are gradations of badness as of everything else.

Now, every tax, regardless of its nominal or pretended base, is paid out of income—past, present, or anticipated. Property and sales taxes (the latter a euphemism for "purchase taxes") are no exceptions. Without an income no person could pay any kind of tax. Therefore the most equitable system of taxation is one that measures by the size of his income a person's ability to share in the costs of government. To estimate taxpaying ability otherwise is like appraising a man's intelligence by measuring his waistline or using some similar low-correlation index. To impute a peculiar ability to pay a tax to someone because he buys groceries or holds title to a few sticks of furniture is, to say the least, an absurdly circuitous procedure which even in the simple world of the 19th century was tolerable only because government, too, was simple and inexpensive. Taxpaying ability is a function of income, and the way to measure it is to measure income and not something else.

Where the tax burden is distributed on a reasonable basis and government expenditures are made for genuinely public purposes, political leaders never need fear angry taxpayer resistance or reprisals at the polls. It is no accident that income-taxing states like Wisconsin or New York have superb educational systems, parks and other public facilities. Do their citizens feel poor and rebellious because they have these things! Yet per-capita taxation in relation to per-capita income is high. Contrast these with the minority of states—for example, Illinois or West Virginia—that rely exclusively on regressive taxes. In such states there is a strong tendency to regard government as the people's natural enemy, and bold progress is next to impossible. Illinois, the third richest state, ranks near the bottom in educational and other outlays, and every prudent candidate for public office feels obliged to pledge himself to a policy of doctrinaire and cheeseparing economy.

Thus justice in taxation is not only important as an abstract principle but as a precondition for keeping abreast of the times. And an income tax that is really measured by income conforms more nearly than any other to the principle of equitable taxation.

California Guard General Sides With Pentagon On 6-Months Training Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Roy Green of the California National Guard sided with the Pentagon Tuesday in its plan to require six months training for National Guard recruits.

Green was the first Guard officer to tell a House Armed Services subcommittee that the six months plan was a good idea.

Last month Green supported the statement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that some men joined the Guard to dodge the draft during the Korean War.

The House subcommittee is looking into the Defense Department's plan to require six months of active training duty for men joining the Guard after March 31. The department contends that most guardsmen are not sufficiently trained.

Green said he has already put the six-months requirement into effect in his division, the 49th. He said "the effect has been to stabilize the division" and he predicted that if applied to all units, it "won't kill the Guard, it will make the Guard."

Other National Guard generals have testified that to require six months training would discourage enlistments in the Guard. As a result, they said, the Guard would wither away or have to be federalized, losing its present status as primarily a state organization in peacetime.

Green said his experience has been that there was no net loss of strength, and predicted his division would get even more recruits.

Maj. Gen. John W. Guerard, retired artillery commander of Green's division, supported his testimony.

Gen. Sirois

Testimony against the six months plan was submitted by Maj. Gen. Edward R. Sirois, former commander of the Massachusetts Yankee National Guard Division.

Sirois said there is considerable nonproductive time in the six months plan, and added:

"If it were squeezed out and our suggestions adopted and the other training which the National Guard conducts were taken into account, I feel certain the Guard would be meeting its responsibilities."

The National Guard Assn. favors an 11-weeks course of training, which could be fitted into school vacations.

'Average Value' Constitutional Change Hits Stout Opposition

A proposed constitutional amendment which would allow the use of average values in determining what property is worth for tax purposes in Nebraska ran into stout opposition at a public hearing Tuesday.

The legislature's revenue committee took no action on the bill, LB 262, introduced by Sens. Otto Liebers, Monroe Bixler, Charles Tvrdik, Otto Kotouc Sr., and Le Roy Bahensky. The bill would put the proposed constitutional change to a general election vote in 1958.

Robert Armstrong of Lincoln, executive director of the Nebraska Citizens' Council, led opposition to the bill. He and other opponents contended the amendment would destroy the long-standing constitutional provision that property in Nebraska shall be taxed "uniformly and proportionately."

Necessary Tool

Sen. Liebers of Lincoln maintained that averages are "a necessary tool" in determining the value of property. The device already is used in the case of railroad franchise, he noted. And if a formula is good for one class, it should be available to others without destroying the constitution's uniformity clause, he declared.

Armstrong said there have been too many changes in tax laws of late and the proposed new change "would add more confusion and uncertainty among tax assessors and taxpayers alike."

He also contended the Legislature has plenty of authority to accomplish the end without changing the constitution.

Other Opponents

Joining Armstrong in opposition were Dan Stubbs, Alliance attorney; George B. Hastings of Grant, former president of the Nebraska Bar Assn.; R. A. Skochdopole of Omaha, representing Associated Retailers of Omaha and Omaha Union Stockyards, and Robert K. Andersen, representing the Assn. of Omaha Taxpayers.

Liebers said LB 262 resulted from four years of intensive study of the problem by legislative committees.

The Revenue Committee also heard, but took no action, on LB 476, introduced by Sen. William Moulton. It would provide for the taxing of trusts in Nebraska on the basis of two per cent of annual gross income, instead of at the rate of four dollars per $1,000 of the value of the trust.

Testimony developed that a trust paying about $40 per year under present law would pay about $8 under the proposed law. But proponents said the growth in Nebraska trusts which could be expected under the more favorable tax rate would more than offset the apparent loss.

Large trusts are going outside the state to escape the Nebraska tax, they said.

Daniel J. Monen, Omaha banker, and Wesley Jones, president of an Omaha trust consultant firm, were among witnesses favoring the bill.

Cadillac

International Synonym for "Achievement"!

Mention the name "Cadillac" wherever you will—and in whatever part of the civilized world you might be—and you will find a common meeting-ground of understanding.

It is, in brief, a world-wide synonym for personal achievement!

And this is, we think, entirely logical. For over the years, the Cadillac car has played a vital role in the lives of so many of the leading citizens of every community where motor cars are seen.

Cadillac is, in fact, the almost predictable choice of those who choose without restriction.

* * *

This, of course, is not to say that a motorist need necessarily possess an abundance of this world's goods in order to enjoy the great and unduplicated satisfactions of Cadillac ownership.

Consider, for instance, the economy of buying a Cadillac. Several models are actually priced competitively with much smaller, lighter cars.

Consider the practical aspects of driving a Cadillac. The car is remarkably economical from a standpoint of both maintenance and operation.

And lastly, think of the wisdom of owning a Cadillac. Year after year, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car in the land.

In other words, wisdom and practicality can lead you to the "car of cars" just as surely as prominence and prosperity.

We suggest that you come in soon—that you spend an hour at the wheel—and that you delay no longer in making the magic move to Cadillac.

We'll be looking for you—soon.

26,000 Sign Soil Bank Agreements

A total of 26,205 farmers made agreements last week for the corn soil bank in Nebraska's 61 commercial corn counties. In a county-by-county report the fourth, fifth and sixth columns indicate funds that the counties are asking above their allotment. The third column is the amount to be paid for the total number of agreements in each county:

House Demos Set Up New Ag Battle In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats came out Tuesday with a wide-ranging farm program calling for additional millions in subsidies. Their action set the stage for a new farm battle in Congress.

Overriding Republican opposition, Democrats on the House Agriculture Committee approved a bill setting up a program of supplemental soil bank benefits of $10 to $50 an acre for corn growers and most other farmers for 1957.

Cost of the program was uncertain, but the bill authorizes an additional 250 million dollars in soil bank acreage reserve funds.

Substitute

The proposed legislation, offered by Chairman Cooley (D-NC) and Rep. Poage (D-Tex), is a substitute for the administration's program to stabilize corn prices and production.

It's sponsors consider it a "diverted acreage" soil bank to control both corn production and production of feed grains which compete with corn on the market.

For the Midwest corn belt farmer in the commercial corn-growing area, the Democratic measure would have about the same results as the administration corn program.

New Benefits

But the Democratic proposal would go further and extend new benefits to growers of cotton, wheat and other basic price-supported crops who would be paid for taking feed grains and certain oil seeds out of production.

In addition, the measure would set up a new and separate soil bank for feed grain producers without basic crop allotments, paying $15 an acre for feed grain reductions.

Passage by Congress of the Democratic program would seem likely to invite another veto by President Eisenhower, who last year returned to Congress a bill to restore mandatory rigid price supports.

Statewide Brand Inspection Measure Runs Into Rugged Battle In Committee

A bill that would extend the brand inspection area of Nebraska to cover the entire state bogged down in the Agriculture Committee Tuesday in the face of stiff opposition from cattle feeders from eastern Nebraska.

The bill, LB 421, was held for further study along with LB 395, a measure that would add Harlan County to the list of 48 counties that now comprise the brand inspection area.

Two other bills, LB's 535 and 438, calling for minor changes in brand book distribution, were advanced without protest.

'Obsolete'

Sen. John G. Donner, introducer of the controversial brand extension measure, called the present brand laws "inequitable" and "obsolete," and told the committee that cattlemen in the brand inspection areas are "entitled to the protection they pay for."

Proponents of the bill, which included primarily ranchers from the western part of the state, testified that under the present brand inspection laws, cattlemen have "no protection outside of the inspection areas." They contend that expanding the inspection area would cut down the cost of inspections and give better protection from cattle thieves.

The bills opponents, headed by brand committee member Bern Coulter and various livestock feeders, contended that the cost of brand inspections has nothing to do with the number of inspections, but rather the location of the inspections. "And in any case the entire cost of brand inspection is born by the cattle owner," Coulter explained.

Chief argument of the bill's opponents was that extension of brand inspection to the entire state could create an "impossible task" in a market such as Omaha. Coulter said that there are 50 inspectors in Omaha now taking care of cattle that come from brand areas and that sales would be "hopelessly slowed" if the bill should become law.

At the conclusion of the hearing Sen. Donner presented an amendment to the bill which he said would cut the cost of brand inspection and add border and terminal inspection points. However, the committee said the amendment was so inclusive that it would require more study and "possible another public hearing" before any action could be taken on it.

EDEN HAS TWO FEVER ATTACKS

LONDON (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden, who resigned as prime minister last month because of ill health, has suffered two attacks of fever aboard the ship taking him to a New Zealand holiday, government sources reported Tuesday.

The 59-year-old statesman and Lady Eden are due in Auckland on Feb. 21 as guests of New Zealand Prime Minister Sidney Holland.

They sailed from London on Jan. 18, eight days after Eden quit as prime minister on the orders of his doctors.

Government sources said Eden will be treated by local physicians when he arrives in New Zealand. They had no other details but the British Press Association said Eden "had two attacks of fever, the second of which was a severe one accompanied by rigor—that is a high temperature."

Eden and his wife are sailing on the Rangitata and he is presumably being treated by the ship's doctor.

Bill To Ask State Pay Thurston Jail Rates For Indians

A bill whereby the state would give Thurston County money to pay for the board bill of Indian prisoners at the county jail was being drafted Tuesday.

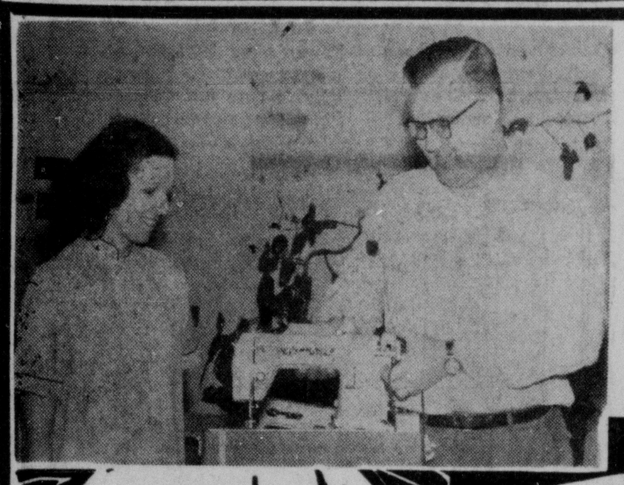

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City initiated the proposal which he said is necessary because law enforcement in the county, where Indians make up one-third of the population, has grown beyond the means of county finances.

Much of the land in the county is an Indian reservation and thus not on the tax rolls.

NU 'Welcome Aboard' Greets 3 More Hungarians

Twenty University of Nebraska students were on hand to greet three Hungarian youths arriving for their first look at the city and university where they will live and study.

Arriving Tuesday evening were Steven (Istvan) Takacas, Julius (Gyula) Szabo and Lajos Molnar. Their arrival brings to five the number of Hungarian refugee students now at the campus.

Greeting the three were members of the Hungarian Student Project, which sponsors the youths, and students from Sigma Chi, Theta Xi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities, where the foreign students will live.

Charles (Karoly) Nemeth, another recently-arrived Hungarian student, translated greetings and messages to the newcomers, including a "welcome aboard!" from the Sigma Chi delegation to their new housemate, 20-year-old Takacas.

Molnar, 20, and Szabo, 23, both plan to attend the U of N college of agriculture after a semester's orientation on the English language. Molnar wants to study agronomy, plant cultivation and mechanized farming.

Takacas, who had enrolled in college to study engineering just before his flight from Hungary, will continue with his plans at the university.

The three will have one free day to tour the university and the city before starting classes Thursday, according to Barb Sharp.

No more Hungarian refugees will be sponsored at the University for the present, Miss Sharp said. Funds for sponsoring the students come from "Work Week" projects by university students, individual gifts and donations from civic organizations across the state. The Lincoln Y-Teens groups are now conducting money-raising drives to help the Hungarian students.

Hungarian Students Arrive

Homicide Charge Dismissed; Blood Test 'Not Admitted'

OMAHA (AP) — A motor vehicle homicide charge against Mrs. Lois E. Stohler, 27, Omaha, was dismissed in District Court after Judge James T. English declined to admit as evidence results of a blood test for alcohol.

Testimony revealed Mrs. Strohler had never given consent for the test and Judge English held that in the absence of such consent the test results could not be admitted as evidence.

Deputy County Attorney John Hanley and Norman Denenberg then moved the charge be dismissed.

Mrs. Stohler was charged in connection with the death of Dean Coleman, 29, Omaha, who was struck Sept. 3, 1955, while jacking up his car on a viaduct.

Four Hit Parade Singers Won't Be Back Next Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The four featured singers on "Your Hit Parade," a Saturday night television show, will not be back next season.

It was announced Tuesday that Dorothy Collins, Snooky Lanson, and Russell Arms will be dropped in June when the current season ends. Gisele Mackenzie previously had announced that she will not be back next season.

Replacements thus far decided on are Virginia Gibson, a featured singer in the Broadway musical "Happy Hunting," Jill Corey and Tommy Leonetti.

The changes were decided upon by the owner of the program, the American Tobacco Co.

Chadron Youth Takes Hollywood Screen Test

CHADRON, Neb. (AP) — Johnnie Rook, a Chadron, Neb., teen-ager now studying drama at the University of California at Los Angeles, has taken a screen test for a part in a new film.

He was tested by Universal Pictures Co., for a picture to be produced by Maurice Kosloff with Montgomery Clift as the star. Rook is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rook of Chadron.

Plans June Wedding

MISS MARGARET HELEN KRAUS

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kraus of Beaver Crossing make announcement this morning of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Helen, to Bernard J. Ach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ach of Friend.

A June wedding is planned.

Miss Kraus has attended Doane and Concordia Colleges and now is a member of the schools faculty in Seward County.

Mr. Ach is a student in the University of Nebraska College of Law.

ONE MORE week of February —and then what?—Well, weatherwise it's anybody's guess, even the weatherman's—Activity-wise, we have more than a guessing game—It is a fact that the last few days of the current month, and nearly all of March will contain numerous events of interest, and not the least of these is the Nebraska Art Association's spring show which opens its doors on Sunday, Feb. 24, and continues through March 24.

Of course the highlight of the opening will be the Living Pictures, as usual, at the Alice Howell Memorial Theater which, in case you may not know, is the old Temple Theater at 12th and R St. We think we also should add that the theater has been completely rejuvenated, redecorated, and affords ease and comfort for viewing. There are to be two performances—the first at 1:30 o'clock and the second at 3 o'clock. Tea and the art exhibit are at Morrill Hall.

* * *

WE hear that Mrs. M. G. Volz is in charge of the tea arrangements, and that presiding at the refreshment table during the afternoon will be Mrs. Pat Ash, Mrs. Alfred Henriksen, Mrs. Cran J. King, Mrs. A. J. Minier, Mrs. Arthur L. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. Ward J. Taylor.

Tenth grade girls—all daughters of Art Association members, will assist at the tea, and those serving will include Janice Anderson, Linda Ash, Susan Backstrom, Jean Carlson, Kay Cooper, Joan Davies, Mary Davies, Sharon Debus, Cyndy Haecker, Sidna Ann Hazen, Margaret Henriksen, Judy Howard, Susan Hunt, Vicki Jennings, Sherry Kessler, Shirley Kessler, Marcia King, Kathi Kimmel, Alice Maren McConnell, Patty Melby, Kay Meves, Susie Minier, Jean Morrison, Judy Peterson, Mary Poulson, Suzanne Reed, Karey Refshauge, Mary Sheldon, Mary Shugrue, Dee Stuart, Judy Smith, Linda Taylor, Mary Yant and Judith Yaussi.

* * *

HEAR that it's to be a fun afternoon next Sunday for a group of Air Force officers and their wives—The affair is to be a 5:30 o'clock to 7 o'clock party at the Officers Club when Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gerald Rotter and Maj. and Mrs. L. M. Goetz are hosts and hostess. The party celebrates the promotion of Lt. Col. Goetz from the rank of major—and the promotion of Maj. Goetz from the rank of captain. Seventy-five guests have been invited.

Marriage Solemnized

The marriage of Miss June Hutchinson, daughter of Mrs. Irene Hutchinson, to A2/c James R. Pierce, son of Mrs. Howard Mathis of Albertville, Ala., took place on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 16, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. Dr. Gordon Schroeder solemnized the 2 o'clock ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Milburn Johnson, organist.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Dorothy Tritsch, and the bridesmaid, Miss Loretta Borstock were frocked in pink and carried colonial bouquets of white blossoms.

Lyle Gerdes served Airman Pierce as best man, and the guests were seated by Samuel Stephenson and Charles Hudson.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Samuel Hoden, appeared in a gown of pastel blue lace over matching satin. The closely fitted bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and brief, shirred sleeves. She completed her ensemble with a small, white satin hat, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Syrian Refugee Assassinated In Lebanon

Tension Is Certain To Mount

. . . Between Nations

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—An assassin's submachine gun bullets killed a refugee Syrian political leader in a Beirut street Tuesday. The shooting seemed likely to plunge Lebanon's relations with Syria, her Arab neighbor, to a new low.

The victim was Grassan Jedid, former Syrian army major, a defendant in absentia in Syria's current trial of 47 men accused of plotting to overthrow the pro-Soviet Syrian regime. Jedid has been under a sentence of death for alleged complicity in a political assassination in Damascus.

Police pursued the assassin and shot him dead in a blazing gunfight. The assassin was identified unofficially as a Syrian named Izzat Shaath.

Party Outlawed

Jedid was a leader of the Social National Party of Syria, which is outlawed both in Lebanon and Syria. He had been a political refugee in Lebanon for the past two years, fleeing Syria after the assassination of Col. Adnan Malki, former deputy chief of staff of the Syrian army.

The killer cut loose as Jedid emerged in midafternoon from his house on Sadat Street in the center of Beirut's American quarter. Eight bullets struck him and he died soon after arrival at a hospital.

Jedid's Social National party, strongly anti-Communist, was outlawed in Syria after the Malki assassination. The party stands for establishment of a "Greater Syria," a scheme which would link all the Arab countries of the so-called fertile crescent—Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and Jordan. Members of this party are among those on trial in Syria on charges of plotting with Britain and Iraq, Syria's pro-Western neighbor, to overthrow Syria's government.

Of the 47 on trial, only 29 were in custody in Damascus. The rest were in exile, mostly in Lebanon. Seven of the defendants were sentenced to death Jan. 29, but only one was in custody in Syria. The Syrians repeatedly have demanded that Lebanon hand over what Damascus called "the runaway conspirators."

Not Aid

PARIS (INS)—French Premier Guy Mollet will discuss most of the current international problems with President Eisenhower on his forthcoming visit to Washington, but not American aid to France.

This was disclosed by authoritative sources who said the major subjects to be taken up include: the Middle East and future administration of the Suez Canal, global strategy against communism and Western aid to under-developed countries.

Sales Tax Bill Loss 'Politics' —Carpenter

A state sales tax bill was defeated by the Legislature purely for "political reasons" and tradition, according to Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Speaking before a meeting of Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity at the University of Nebraska, Carpenter told the group that as they grow older they will find the practical application of law much different than the theoretical side.

Many good bills will not be passed by this Legislature, Carpenter said, purely because of political reasons and the fact that "we are steeped in tradition."

With defeat of the sales tax, he said, it would take unusual optimism to think that the combination sales and income tax measure will pass.

Carpenter has favored both bills.

Speaking in behalf of a hike in tuition rates at the University, Carpenter said the problem is simple:

"Either the University will be left to deteriorate in usefulness or tuition rates will be increased to the degree necessary."

The Legislature, he said, will provide no budget for the University in excess of that recommended by Gov. (Victor) Anderson, probably less. Sentiment, good will and principles of higher education are fine, he said, but in the end it boils down to a question of who is going to pay for it.

Over 200 Attend Church Women's Brotherhood Week

More than 200 women attended the Brotherhood Week meeting of the Lincoln United Church Women held at the Church of the Brethren, 36th and Sumner, Tuesday.

William A. Bogar, principal of Lincoln High School and Mrs. V. F. Kullawatz were speakers at the all-day meeting. Bogar addressed the group on the theme of the day, "Living Together."

Mrs. Kullawatz, wife of a Lincoln Air Force Base chaplain, outlined the "association of Air Force personnel and civilians in nearby towns."

She told the group that problems between the Lincoln AFB and the city seemed to be working out satisfactorily, although it was not a problem of the two groups, but rather, problems of many individuals.

Leading devotions was Mrs. L. R. Hayes. Special music was furnished by a ladies quartette composed of members from different churches. Mrs. Rae M. Cameron was chairman of the day.

Next meeting of the group is scheduled for March 8 at First Plymouth Congregational Church for observance of the World Day of Prayer.

NW Bell Case Taken Under Advisement

The State Railway Commission Tuesday took under advisement an application from Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. for authority to adjust telephone rates.

The action concluded a two-day public hearing of the company's application, an application that was protested by the Farmers Union, the Farm Bureau Federation and several independent outstate telephone companies.

Chief witnesses for the company were Vice President and General Manager for the Nebraska operations J. B. Moore, company statistician C. J. Jensen and General Staff Engineer C. W. Teal.

Tuesday's session was conducted in a manner similar to a panel discussion. Commission Chairman Joseph Brown swore in all the witnesses at the same time and questions and answers passed back and forth between the commission, the protestants and the applicants.

The company had stated in its application that increased costs of labor and the expenses of expansion made it "impossible" for the company to realize a fair return on its investment. The company introduced 47 pieces of evidence, consisting of various charts and financial statements, in support of its application.

The main argument advanced by the protestants, represented at the hearing by Charles Marshall, Chris Milius and John E. Dier was that economic and drought conditions over much of the state make it unfair for Northwestern Bell's customers to have to pay more for telephone service.

Week-Old Dock Strike Continues At Atlantic Ports

NEW YORK (AP)—The week-old longshore strike in north Atlantic ports continued Tuesday night despite a top federal mediator's trip to Baltimore to try to settle a major roadblock.

Failure of shippers in Baltimore to agree to terms accepted by employers in New York and other ports was holding up the actual return to work.

Although the settlement was reached with New York shippers Sunday night, the 45,000 striking longshoremen have agreed not to return to work until the settlement is okayed in all affected ports.

Mediator Robert H. Moore, who was chiefly responsible for the pattern of settlement here, went to Baltimore Tuesday and got shippers and union officials together Tuesday night.

But when the meeting ended after two hours, to be resumed Wednesday, Moore said he could see little if any progress. A Baltimore company spokesman described the situation as "dismal."

Dulles Moves Belatedly To Get Out Of Hot Water Over Sen. Johnson's Letter

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles moved belatedly Tuesday to get out of the hot water caused by his eight-day failure to reply to a letter from Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic leader.

Johnson wrote Dulles Feb. 11 saying he believed it would be "a most unwise move" for the United States to support economic sanctions against Israel. This was five days after Dulles said the U.S. would have to give "serious consideration" to sanctions if the United Nations moved in that direction.

Evidently irked by Dulles' failure to reply, Johnson brought the letter before the Senate Democratic Policy Committee Tuesday and got a unanimous endorsement of his position from that group.

Then Johnson went to the floor to read his letter to the Senate.

He subsequently called a news conference at which he said he had received "not even an acknowledgment" of his letter to the secretary.

'Considering'

As reporters were filing out, George Reedy, an aide, hurried in to hand Johnson a note. It said Dulles was "considering the senator's letter carefully and will reply to it personally."

Reedy explained to reporters he had called Robert Hill, assistant secretary of state, on another matter and Hill had given him the message to Johnson.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, disclosed that he and Sen. Murray (D-Mont) also had written Dulles Feb. 11 urging that a "policy of equality" be followed so that if sanctions were applied against Israel they also would be placed against other nations that have ignored U.N. resolutions.

Johnson and other Democrats still are angry about news "leaks" before the Eisenhower Middle East program was disclosed to them at a White House meeting Jan. 1.

Johnson told the Senate pointedly that the Middle East resolution "came to us under somewhat uncertain circumstances."

'Bit Weak'

"We first heard about it through a third party," he said. "But perhaps this was simply because communications between the two ends of Pennsylvania Avenue were a bit weak."

In ab o b v i o u s dig at Dulles, Johnson said that when Senate committees were considering the resolution some members felt that "some of the witnesses spoke at length but testified to but very little."

Dulles was before the Senate Foreign Relations and A r m e d Services committee six days. Some Democrats complained at the time that they did not regard some of Dulles' answers as responsive to their questions.

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, the assistant Republican leader, said Dulles had been subjected to some "cruel and brutal attacks" by critics Dirksen did not name.

Dirksen said he wanted to salute Dulles as "a devoted and capable public servant who has labored unremittingly for peace."

Pentagon Makes Mistake On Stars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army made a mistake, and admitted it Tuesday.

It said it really did not mean to take away the stars that identify cars used by its generals.

The Army said it was all a "misinterpretation" of the details of an agreement regarding the marking of military vehicles of NATO countries.

The misinterpretation was accepted up and down the Army and actually appeared in regulations which seemed to require general officers to erase their stars and use X's instead.

Tuesday the Army announced that action was under way to rescind the paragraph in the regulations "which reflected the misinterpretation." The s t a t e m e n t added that officers of general rank may continue to ride around in cars marked by the number of stars denoting their rank.

Strike Threatens

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Western forces in Germany were threatened with a strike by their 300,000 German employes.

Union leader Karl Kaula told a news conference he and his colleagues will meet Wednesday and Thursday to decide whether the employes s h o u l d take a strike vote.

After-Shock From '52

TEHACHAPI, C a l i f. (AP) — An earthquake jolted Tehachapi Tuesday. No damage was reported. The quake was described as an aftershock from the devastating quake of 1952.

Hruska Forecasts Slice In Budget

OMAHA (AP) — Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) predicted Tuesday that Congress will slice two to two and one-half billion dollars from President Eisenhower's 72-billion-dollar budget.

Hruska said he felt the cuts would be made on a "selective basis" rather than across the board.

Hruska was back in Omaha Tuesday to address the Washington school PTA Tuesday night on "The Biggest Job on Earth."

Hruska indicated the demand for economy had caused some of the most enthusiastic letter response from constituents during his service in Congress.

"I'm not the only senator receiving this mail," he said "Sen. Carlson of K a n s a s and many others have told me that the people in their states are concerned about the high cost of government."

Hruska said what appealed to him was that the letters weren't "stereotyped. They show originality."

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

If it has not been for a talkative Mexican lady, Cortez would not be remembered as the conqueror of Mexico. But as the principal item on the blue-plate special.

This should be a lesson to us all: Leave business at the office.

I drove out of the valley of Mexico on the old stage-coach road, 10,500 feet up in the pine forests. In the old days travelers stopped here at Rio Frio for soldier escorts. Today bus lines stop for soft drinks. The road wheels onto the high Aztec plateau where the volcanoes Icctacihuatl and Popocatepetl stand bright and snowy in the blue Mexican sky.

The air was thin and brisk. And each town had a flapping display of the bright blankets of Texmelucan.

A dozen miles before Puebla, a wooden sign points to the right: Cholula. And so I drove down to see where Cortez nearly went to lunch. On a platter.

It was the year 1519. Cortez was mousing around town and cutting up touches with the locals.

"What's cooking, boys?" asked the Conqueror.

"Just a little surprise luncheon," said the Cholulans, hiding a smile. For what was cooking around the corner we have the authentic recipe:

"To one large pot of boiling water, add chili, tomatoes and salt to taste. Then add Cortez."

☆ ☆ ☆

Cholula was the holy city of the Aztecs. It had several hundred temples which could serve you a Poor Boy sandwich faster than Canal street in New Orleans.

The difference was that the Aztecs used genuine poor boys.

Cortez had with him an Indian lady named Donna Marina. She got to talking with an Indian general's wife.

"It is to be a great surprise," said the general's lady. "But you mustn't miss the Cortez luncheon." She then put out the recipe. Donna Marina hurried right back to her Spanish boy friend and unloaded the story.

Cortez was very upset. He called the Indians in for a conference.

He proceeded to kill about 6000 of them as a lesson.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cholula is a quiet little town today. With narrow Spanish streets and a great plaza of trees and monuments. A great white church stands on the pyramid hill where the chief temple of the holy Cholulans used to be.

After the conquest the Spaniards tore down all the temples of Cholula and built churches on the exact spots. There are supposed to be 365 churches in the little town. One for each day of the year.

Each church is supported by a sauce, however, of tomatoes, salt and chili.

☆ ☆ ☆

When the 6000 Cholulans had volunteer parish somewhere in Mexico which makes pilgrimages to it.

Luncheon these days is served on the street corner. The same been done in, Cortez brought in the chiefs. He had saved them for last.

"He said that he knew of the ambuscade," wrote the eye-witness soldier Bernal Diaz in his wonderful "True History of the Conquest of Mexico."

Legislature May Return Hearing To Courts

ROBERTSON CASE HITS SNAG

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's celebrated "Quail Case" will move into its second day of Legislative committee investigation at the Statehouse Wednesday morning and the big question seems to involve separation of power.

At least that's what will have to be established before testimony of witnesses in the probe of (1) did Donald F. Robertson of North Platte, a Game Commission member, shoot a quail from a road in Johnson County on Nov. 11, 1955; (2) the actions of County Attorney Raymond Morrissey of Johnson County in the case; (3) the actions of Game Commission Director Mel Steen in causing the dismissal of the complaint against Robertson.

More than 100 spectators attended the hearing.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, chairman of the special committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate the Robertson case, summed up the situation late Tuesday afternoon when he said:

"At this point we must decide whether or not this is a proper matter for the legislative branch of government.

"Because of the great public furor created by this incident we are anxious to shed light on the matter. We are not trying to dodge the job assigned to us by the Legislature.

"But we have to determine whether or not we're interferring with the judicial branch."

The committee, composed of Senators Ray Simmons of Fremont, Fred Waggoner of Lincoln, Charles Tvrdik of Omaha and Dwain Williams of Broken Bow, adjourned until 9:30 a.m. Wednesday with the intention of getting legal advice from Attorney General Clarence Beck. It was also planned to hear viewpoints of counsel for the various figures in the case on the subject Wednesday morning.

Morrissey tossed the separation of power bombshell into the hearing Tuesday afternoon when he testified that the complaint against Robertson "had never been dismissed."

"I never asked for a dismissal," Morrissey testified. "I only prepared the request for dismissal for (Conservation Officer Harland) Huppert. It's up to the court to dismiss a complaint."

This prompted McGinley to raise the question of the validity of the legislative probe.

Citing the section of the committee's "Plan for the Robertson Investigation—Scope of the Investigation," McGinley pointed out that part of the purpose of the probe was to determine "whether the county attorney of Johnson County acted properly, in his discretionary capacity, in dismissing, on July 6, 1956 the complaint filed against Donald F. Robertson in Johnson County.

"The question of the correctness of facts arises if Morrissey did not withdraw the complaint," McGinley said. "It would seem the matter still rests with the court."

Sen. Tvrdik interjected the case "seems to be in a state of suspended animation."

Morrissey was asked if he would regard the case as dismissed even though he did not or could not dismiss it, and he replied:

"I feel the case will just die because there's insufficient evidence—only the word of Huppert against that of Robertson."

This statement kicked off another debate on whether or not a person could be convicted on the sole testimony of an arresting officer.

Sen. McGinley told the committee after a late-afternoon recess that he had talked to Johnson County Judge William J. Schepman by telephone and that Schepman told him he considered the case closed because of the request for a dismissal.

However, McGinley said he did not feel that such a motion would "take it out of court."

Morrissey contended that unless the defendant pleaded guilty or that there was evidence other than the word of the officer it was almost impossible to gain a conviction.

Sen. Simmons took issue with this viewpoint and pointed out that police officers are frequently the sole witnesses for the prosecution in traffic cases and convictions are obtained.

"When it's one officer's word against a defendant with no other evidence, it's almost impossible to obtain a conviction . . . about 90 per cent of the convictions are obtained when the defendants plead guilty," Morrissey said.

Morrissey was called by the committee to explain his position in the case that had its start on Armistice Day, 1955, when Robertson, Huppert, Robert Heinzelman of Falls City and the late Game Commission Secretary Paul Gilbert were on a quail hunting trip between Elk Creek and Tecumseh.

Robertson is alleged to have shot a quail from a road, but charges by Huppert were not filed against him until May 3, 1956. The charges were requested to be dismissed by Huppert on July 6.

Huppert, who was on the stand all morning and part of the afternoon, testified that he "saw Robertson fire the second shot from the middle of the road after I heard a first shot."

Huppert also testified that he did not file charges earlier because he thought Gilbert—"my top superior"—would eventually file them. Gilbert died on April 18, 1956.

"I thought something should be done about it because no man's better than another."

He told committee members he "was not pressured" into filing the charges.

Huppert testified that he withdrew the charges when Steen visited him in Falls City and "ordered me to withdraw them or he would fire me."

Attorney George Dent of North Platte, representing Robertson and Steen, contended that the charges were filed because of prejudices within the Game Commission ranks "to get Robertson."

He also produced warning tickets written by Huppert for offenses—including shooting from the road—prior to the Armistice Day shoot in an effort to prove predjudice.

Huppert, who is being represented by Joe Vosoba and Alan Steinacher of Wilber, testified that complaints were not filed in these cases because "I did not have sufficient evidence to gain convictions."

Game Commission Chairman Frank Button of Ogallala also testified in the morning session and stated that he was involved in a conversation with Gilbert early in 1956 and quoted Gilbert as saying: "Don did not shoot a quail from the highway."

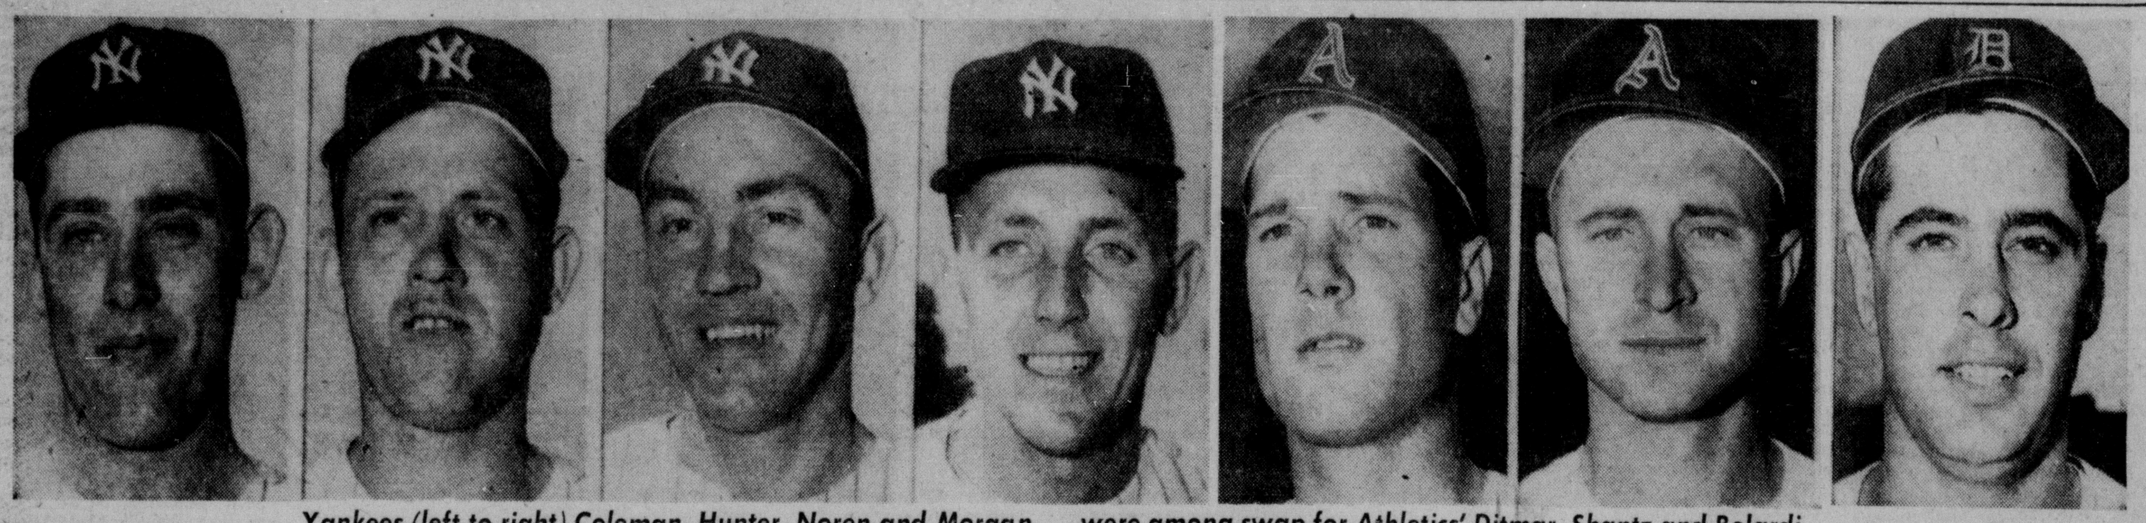

Huppert had testified that Gilbert had seen the alleged incident and "had expressed displeasure over it by shaking his head negatively."

During the afternoon Morrissey also testified that he had "been tricked" into filing the charges and that "the matter was something that should have been settled up here (Lincoln) instead of in our county."

Still to be heard from should the investigation continue are the following witnesses:

Conservation Officers Bill Cunningham of Lincoln, Roy Owen of Crete, Richard Wolkow of Omaha, former acting director of the Game Commission Glen Foster, Robertson and Steen.

Another witness, Heinzelman, has submitted a deposition because, according to a doctor's certificate, personal testimony might be detrimental to his health."

Yankees (left to right) Coleman, Hunter, Noren and Morgan . . . were among swap for Athletics' Ditmar, Shantz and Belardi.

A's Swap Bobby Shantz To Yanks

Yankees Send 8 To Kansas City; Get 5 Athletics

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, already heavily favored to retain their American League championship in 1957, Tuesday obtained pitchers Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz from Kansas City and gave up seven players in the biggest baseball deal in more than two years.

The Yankees also acquired infielder Wayne Belardi and southpaw pitcher Jack McMahan, both of whom were assigned to Denver, the Yanks' farm team in the American Assn.

In return, the Athletics received pitchers Maury McDermott, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman, outfielder Irv Noren and infielders Billy Hunter and Milt Graff.

Three other players, as yet unnamed, also are included in the trade-one to be assigned to the A's by April 15 and the other two headed for the Yankees.

Infielder Cletis Boyer, a bonus player, originally was included in the trade. But it was later determined that bonus players cannot be released or traded until their bonus period is up. Boyer was signed by the A's on May 30, 1955 and therefore cannot be disposed of until May 31 of this year.

A Yankee spokesman said, in place of Boyer, the world champions would receive another player by the June 15 trading deadline. He did not rule out the possibility that Boyer might be that player.

In announcing the 13-player transaction at a noon press conference, Yankee General Manager George Weiss beamed, "This is a good deal for us. Ditmar is the ace of the deal as far as we are concerned."

The trade was the largest in the majors since Nov. 18, 1954 when the Bombers picked up Don Larsen and Bob Turley, among others, in a 17-player swap with the Baltimore Orioles. The Orioles got nine players and New York eight.

"Ditmar has always gone well against Cleveland and other top clubs," said Weiss. "Shantz should help us in relief. We really haven't had a good lefthanded relief pitcher since Joe Page."

Ditmar, a righthander, won 12 games and lost 22 for the A's last season. Included among his victories was a one-hitter against Chicago April 21 and shutouts against Baltimore and Detroit.

Shantz, the circuit's most valuable player in 1952 when he won 24 games and dropped seven, had a 2-7 record in 1956. He has been plagued by a sore shoulder.

Indians Hand Pius First Home Loss

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

A hustling band of Tecumseh Indians used the free throw line to full facility to take a 61-47 victory over Pius X in a top-notch Class B tilt at the Pius gym Tuesday night.

The visiting Indians cashed in on 29 of 36 charity attempts and this display of proficiency amounted to the difference in the contest.

For Pius, which outshot Tecumseh from the floor, 20-16, but which could garner only seven free throws, it was the first home court loss of the season and snapped a nine-game home winning streak.

For three quarters, the outcome was unsettled and Pius still had every chance in the world to keep the streak alive, but the final quarter decided the issue.

Tecumseh hit on 15 of 16 free throw attempts in that final period and controlled the ball effectively so that Pius had little chance to retaliate.

Tecumseh's Glen McCoy, a 6-1 senior with steel springs for legs and possessor of a tremendous pivot shot, killed Pius.

McCoy tallied 25 points and was almost solely responsible for the fouling out of the Thunderbolts' only rebound strength, big Dave Higgins and Don Houser.

And he also sent George Easley, the Thunderbolts' top scorer, to the bench with four fouls early in the first half besides gobbling up his share of the rebounds and blocking numerous Pius field goal attempts.

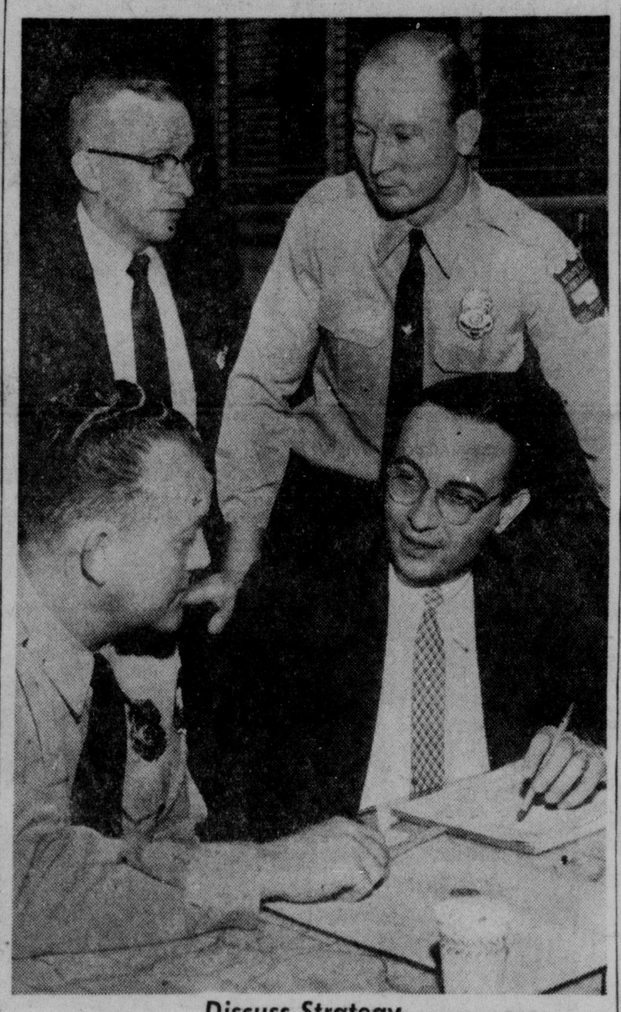

The ball game started off as a nip and tuck affair with the score being tied six times and the lead changing hands five times in the first quarter.

Pius led 16-14 at the quarter and 28-24 at intermission but the lack of Easley in the lineup through the third quarter hurt the Thunderbolts as Tecumseh forged into the lead.

The Northeast sophomores took a 44-40 victory over the Pius reserves in preliminary action.

Wesleyan Gains Revenge Win Over Peru

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Writer

Nebraska Wesleyan's basketball team settled a score with Peru State Teachers College Tuesday night, by beating the Bobcats 77-69 at Taylor gym.

Peru beat the Plainsmen 88-82 in the first meeting between the two clubs. That was the first of a disheartening series of Nebraska College Conference defeats for the Plainsmen, a run of losses that left them with a 5-6 conference mark going into the Peru game.

Now playing at a .500 clip in the NCC, Coach Irv Peterson's Plainsmen will tackle tough Hastings Friday night in another bid for revenge.

If they can keep the pressure on Hastings the way they did on Peru, the Plainsmen may get that revenge.

The hustling Plainsmen were in control the last three quarters of play and kept the Bobcats in a tizzy by picking off Peru passes.

Wesleyan was on top from the moment Bob Eberspacher dropped in a layup to make it 14-13 with less than nine minutes gone.

Fans who had watched Peru dump the Plainsmen earlier might have shuddered a little at this point. For no sooner had Wesleyan gone ahead than in came Doug Gibson, Peru football star whose shooting killed Wesleyan in the first match between the two clubs.

Gibson wasn't able to halt the Wesleyan drive, however.

Wesleyan went on a hot streak and scored 16 points while Peru could muster only two. That made it 30-15 and Peru did the chasing from there on in.

Glen Reed started the push with a short shot and Arvid Barney—high scorer with 21 points—added two free throws.

Lefty Hixson made his only first-half points on a flashy hook shot and a long southpaw jump shot. He got both chances after Wesleyan ball thefts.

With eight minutes to go in the first half Reed scored on a fast-break play to make it 26-15.

Barney added four more points and Wesleyan had its big lead.

Two late goals by Gibson helped Peru close it to 37-33 at the half but NWU opened the gap again with two buckets before Peru could score in the second half. Peru never came closer than four points.

Bruce Smith, big Peru center, led the visitors with 21 points and Ron Witt added 14. For Wesleyan, Reed and Eberspacher each had 18.

Barney was given a boost in the rebounding department by Eberspacher, who fouled out late in the game.

'OCCASIONAL' LINCOLN GAL BOWLER HITS 288

Jean Merriman, a once-every-two weeks bowler, spun one of the highest scores ever tallied by a Lincoln woman when she tossed a 288 game at the Rosewilde bowling alley.

Jean, 27, started bowling only two years ago. She does not bowl in a league.

Her best game prior to the spectacular 288 was a 209—bowled the same night as her 288. Before that she had never been higher than 190.

Her husband Vernon's comment after the game: "I don't believe it."

The Merrimans reside at 2135 N. 59th.

BILL OVER 1ST FLOOR HURDLE

A bill permitting Nebraska deer hunters to receive permits oftener than once in three years crossed its first floor hurdle on the way to final passage in the legislature Tuesday.

Under the bill, a hunter who failed to receive a permit one year would get preferred treatment when permits are issued the following year.

Because of the present one-permit-in-three-years restriction, some deer permits went begging in 1956.

Hastings St. Cecilia, Western and Phillips will be the teams to beat in the lower division of Nebraska prep basketball when district tournament play begins next week.

The three leaders in Classes C, D and E held their positions in the final pre-tourney ratings, and each had to win more than once.

St. Cecilia won the Tri-Valley Conference tournament, having a close call in the first round as Class B Grand Island Catholic pressed, 55-53.

Western handled Wilber and Milford, both Class B clubs, to cement its D leadership. Phillips scored victories number 21 and 22 against Palmer and Boelus, making 90 points against the latter club.

The final pre-tournament ratings stack up as follows:

Class C

St. Cecilia was pushed by Grand Island Central Catholic but disposed of Shelton 62-19 and Wood River 75-48 to win the Tri Valley title and remain in first place.

Their were few changes in the Top Ten. The big move was made by Seward Concordia, back into the list at sixth after dropping out.

Up-and-down Concordia clipped Stromsburg and Columbus St. Bonaventure with ease last week and appears to be bouncing back after a loss to unranked Fairmont. Concordia beat Grand Island Catholic 57-45 a week ago.

Hay Springs topped Crawford and Pine Ridge, S. D. to remain in second. Trenton kept its slate clean by winning the Frenchman Valley Tournament title and is third.

David City St. Mary's playing a weak late-season slate, is again fourth. Alma ranks fifth again after dropping Orleans. Arcadia, unbeaten, is seventh.

Scribner slipped to eighth after being clipped by West Point. Hildreth is ninth ahead of Clarkson.

Hildreth won the Fort Kearney Conference Tourney title while Clarkson lost to Howells (Class B) in the Mid-State meet. Cedar Rapids dropped from the chart after a loss in the Cedar Valley Conference Tourney.

Class D

Junior Ferebee's Western Indians continued on the warpath last week, scalping Wilber 70-37 and Milford 47-31.

Utica had trouble with Class C Fairmont (54-49) and blasted Class E Hampton but moved up to second place as Otoe's long win streak was broken by Elmwood. Otoe slipped from second to fifth.

Clatonia scored an easy win over Virginia to be third, a notch ahead of Uehling. Uehling disposed of Bellwood Marietta and Beemer.

Ruskin, Center, Bruning, Benedict and Dodge trail. Benedict is back in the ratings after a short absence despite a loss to Brainard last week. Springfield tumbled after losing to Omaha Sacred Heart and Arlington.

Class E

Phillips spanked Palmer 69-33 and Boelus 90-50, and will be the one to down in tournament play. A loss to Trumbull may help during the tourney grind.

Wilcox, shaded 59-57 by Class C Hildreth in the finals of the Ft. Kearney Conference Tourney, moved up to second place. Elba is third and Upland, pressed last week by Bladen (53-51) drops to fourth.

Duncan is the fifth-place club, one jump ahead of Brady. Brady lost a one-point decision to North Platte St. Pat's but beat Wallace.

Naponee, Byron and Swanton—the latter back in after a long absence—round out the Top Ten.

Winners of 20 games in a row, the Tar Heels picked up 806 points on the usual basis of 10 for first place, 9 for second etc. The nation's sportswriters and sportscasters gave Kansas 17 firsts and 756 points.

Dusek Keeps Mat Crown

Joe Dusek defended his Midwestern heavyweight wrestling championship at the Fairgrounds 4-H Building Tuesday, defeating Mario de Sousa in the feature match of Matchmaker Tom Novak's show.

But burly Joe vied with Pogo the boxing kangaroo for the attention of the crowd. In the eyes of the 100 youngsters, it was no contest—Pogo was a handy winner.

The stubby marsupial clowned through a leather-trading exhibition with one of his handlers. This was part of Ada Ash's novelty performance, which included feats of strength by Miss Ash.

Dusek used a body pin to gain the deciding fall over his Portuguese rival.

DeSousa, who had copped the second fall in nine minutes with a reverse head drop, tried that stratagem again but it failed and Joe slammed Mario to the mat and applied the pin.

The first fall went to Dusek, who used a knee drop after bouncing de Sousa off the ring buckles.

In a preliminary bout Lincoln's Jean Noble wrestled Lloraine Johnson to a draw. Jean won the first fall with a rolling head scissors and lost the second to the same maneuver.

Fullmer's Injured Eye Cancels Bout

DENVER (AP) — Promoter Joe Dupler Tuesday called off a scheduled 10-round middleweight boxing match here Feb. 27 between Gene Fullmer and Charley Cotton because of an eye injury suffered by the champion in his bout Monday night.

Dupler said the cancellation was at the request of Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson.

He quoted Jenson as saying a cut above Fullmer's left eye was not serious, but that he didn't want to risk aggravating the injury. It came in the first round of Fullmer's 10-round nontitle victory over Ernie Durando.

State Polio Case Total Reaches 10

The total number of polio cases for the year in Nebraska jumped to 10 with the report of two new cases during the past week, the State Health Department reported Tuesday.

Polio Division Director Alan Rouse noted that seven of the 10 cases were persons over 25, and reiterated his plea that all persons under 40 get vaccine shots.

One of last week's cases was reported from Hall County and the other from Seward County, the Health Department said.

EARLY GUIDANCE FOR GIFTED STUDENTS URGED

The State Department of Education has suggested that Nebraska school administrators "identify gifted students early in their school careers and provide adequate guidance when these students make initial course choices."

The suggestion was one of several set out in the Department's February issue of its monthly publication, "Educationally Yours," in answer to questions posed about scientific and mathematic programs in Nebraska schools.

Three questions were raised in the publication:

1. Are Nebraska schools offering an adequate program in science and mathematics?

2. Are Nebraska schools providing adequate instructional materials and equipment for science and mathematics?

3. Are enough of our capable high school students enrolling in science and mathematics courses?

Quoting a national educational publication, "Guidance Newsletter," the Nebraska bulletin said, "That so many of our bright students do not go to college has long been cause for alarm. A prior concern, however, is the fact that a considerable number of bright students are not taking the academic courses that will prepare them for college, provide a well-rounded education and serve as a background for possible career choices."

4 Out of 10

The publication continued that "nearly four out of 10 superior students were enrolled in programs other than an academic or college preparatory program."

The State Department of Education further suggests that when talented students are unsure of their college plans, counselors should encourage them to elect courses that will enable them to continue their education if they so decide.

The Department also urges counselors to talk with parents of gifted children and help them see the importance of selecting a course of study that will make college entrance possible.

'Labor Less Fearful Of Government'

Manpower Chief Tells Students

The role of government in the eyes of labor has changed considerably in the past few years, a nationally known labor specialist said Tuesday at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Henry David, executive director of the National Manpower Council and professor of economics at Columbia University, said labor looks upon government today as a much more positive instrument in fulfilling its expectations in life.

A few years ago, he said, labor looked upon government as a negative instrument "used to keep the rules equal in the game between labor and business."

"Practices Its Rhetoric'

The visiting lecturer said that labor also has put into practice a "lot of rhetoric" which it only expressed in the past, such as views on civil rights, labor's relation to educational institutions and labor's participation in the community.

"Both labor and business consider the role of government as exactly the same, but differ on what government is supposed to do, for whom, and at what cost," Dr. David explained.

Through the 1930s, he pointed out, labor believed in a government of limited mission. "Labor was unsympathetic to social security, regulations for maximum hours and minimum wages. It wanted an area of freedom," he said.

'Government Is Key'

But now, he added, government action is the key point of reference for labor to how its expectations in life will be fulfilled.

Labor realizes that government policies on foreign trade and foreign aid are as important to it as to the bankers, Dr. David stated.

His three-day visit to the University was sponsored by the University Research Council, convocations committee and Department of History.

Continued Dryness Intensifies Drought Over State

No precipitation and low humidity throughout Nebraska last week intensified the drought situation, state-federal crop observers reported Tuesday.

Unseasonably warm temperatures prevailed during the week, accompanied by clear skies and normal or higher winds.

Considerable loss of winter wheat acreage on the southern table and severe erosion on light sandy soils in areas adjacent to the Platte Valley in the Panhandle were reported caused from high winds in that area on Monday, Feb. 11.

High temperatures were bringing the winter wheat crop out of the dormant stage in some southern counties, crop observers said, adding that "such a condition at this time of year is not favorable with the limited suppply of soil moisture."

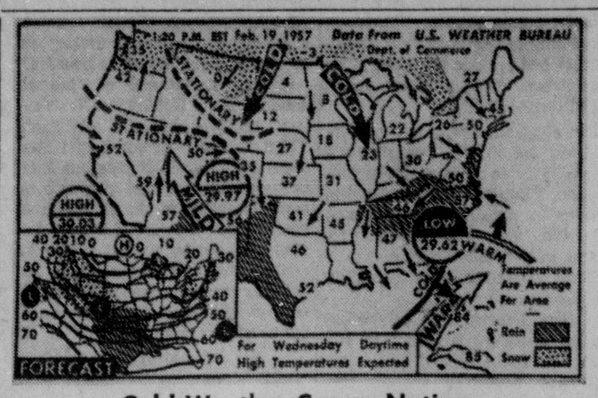

Irrigation wells were operating on warm days, observers said, and farmers were starting spring field operations, working down corn and sorghum stalks with cutters or by discing.

There is a limited supply of good oats and barley seed, the observers reported. Hay and forage continues in short supply in many areas of the state but it was expected that with continued favorable weather most farmers will be able to hold on to their foundation herds.

The mild weather of the past week was reported favorable for all livestock. Cattle were reported in good condition with some early calves appearing. The 1957 spring lamb crop appears to be good over most of the state, the observers said, with lambs having passed the peak.

(MOTHER OF 5)

The development of children at the year-old stage is a wonderful thing to watch. But all year-olds do not develop at the same rate of speed. Some talk early, walk late. Others vice versa. Some are weaned, others are not. Some use their hands skillfully, others are not so daring. (But it's surprising how nearly all of them catch up with each other eventually.) Happiest parents are those who are guided by this golden rule: "Don't hold a child back—don't push a child forward." Greatest rewards go to those parents who accept with pride and pleasure the progress baby makes in his own special way.

Snack-talk from a column-reading mother: "I've discovered a little trick with your Gerber Junior Meats. I add a smitch of onion, a bit of salt and pepper—roll the mixture in little circles of pie dough and bake until golden brown. They make tasty appetizers and my little toddler thinks they're just about the grandest grown-up treats in the world."

P. S. Gerber Strained and Junior Meats are made from selected Armour cuts, specially processed to remove most of the fat and coarse tissue ... preserve true-meat flavors and the utmost in wholesome food values.

West Lincoln Road Group Gets County Co-Operation

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A West Lincoln delegation was promised Lancaster County's co-operation concerning the future of a stretch of Highway 2 and 34 adjacent to the village.

Abandonment of the stretch in the relocation of Highway 2-34 seven miles northwest of Lincoln to connect with the Omaha-Lincoln segment of the interstate highway has been indicated by State Engineer L. N. Ress. The change would be three or four years away.

The delegation suggested that an interstate overpass or underpass planned for Adams be located on the present Highway 2-34 to give West Lincoln a direct route to Lincoln.

Ress, appearing before the County Board, said such a structure, requiring 20-foot clearance to go over the interstate route, would virtually wipe out business establishments on the north side of the highway.

"Eventually," Ress said, "the 10th street viaduct will be abandoned with the construction of a two-way route between 8th and 9th streets."

"Traffic on 14th and the U.S. 6 cutoff would be practically nothing," he said.

Ress said the State Highway Department "doesn't have all the answers yet" and "some of this speculation is premature."

The Board said County Engineer L. W. Weaver would represent the county at a hearing next Tuesday before the state engineer. The West Lincoln deelgation also expects to attend.

Mid-State Urged As Part Of Missouri Plan

Partnership Setup Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Oscar Drake of Kearney, president of the Mid-State Reclamation District, said Tuesday he hopes this project can be designated as an integral part of the Missouri River Development Program.

Drake told the Nebraska Congressional delegation at its weekly breakfast this would allow the proposed Mid-State project to benefit from revenues from sale of federal Missouri River power. This, he said, would help Mid-State pay off loans needed for construction of the project.

He said that if Interior Department backing is obtained Congress will be asked to authorize construction of Mid-State as a part of the Missouri River Basin Program.

Privately Built

Mid-State would be a privately built and operated project. However, it would be a partnership with the government in that it would benefit from federal power revenues, from a non-interest bearing federal loan and from federal grants for costs of the flood control, wildlife and recreational features of the project.

Drake said Mid-State has tentatively agreed on federal plans calling for a 65 million dollar project. Interior Department officials would not go along with a mid-state design which would cost only 45 million.

Four Power Plants

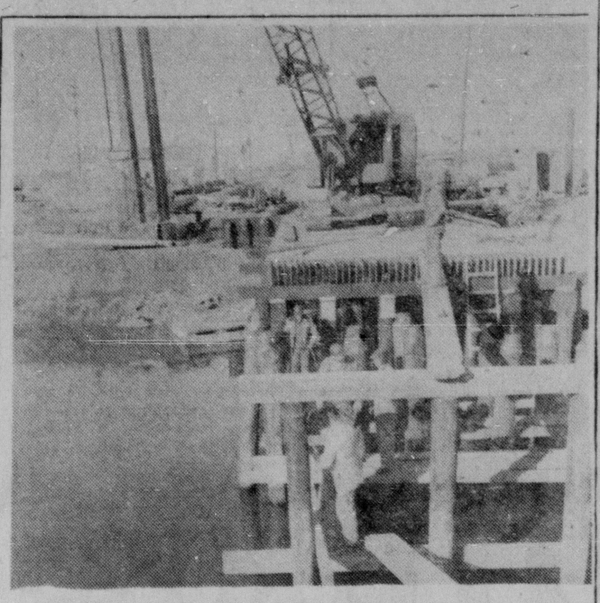

Mid-State plans to borrow privately about 18 million to finance four power plants. Drake said the revenues from these plants, along with revenues from federally-owned Missouri River power projects, would provide sufficient yearly income for Mid-State to pay off its private and federal loans.

The plan calls for dams, reservoirs, power plants and irrigation ditches which would benefit 140,000 acres in Merrick, Hall and Buffalo Counties.

Don Weaver, Grand Island, Ernest Staubitz and Drake of Kearney, Ted Reeves, Central City, and M. M. Meyers, Omaha, comprise a Mid-State delegation which conferred with Assistant Secretary of the Interior Aandahl Monday.

Tuesday the group talked briefly with Army Engineers. Drake said further conferences with Aandahl and Engineers will have to await engineering reports which will not be available for several weeks.

Canal Bridge Being Rebuilt

Two bridges on the "haul" road, one over Plum Creek and the other over the supply canal just south of the steam plant site, are being rebuilt to handle the hauling of some 25 carloads of equipment for the Canady Steam Plant. The equipment will be shipped to Bertrand and hauled 16 miles to the steam plant site seven miles southeast of Lexington. One single item of equipment will weigh over 200 tons.

Construction Work Moves Ahead On New Steam Plant

LEXINGTON, Neb. — Construction work at the Canaday Steam Plant southeast of Lexington has been moving along during the winter months. With the exception of placing approximately six inches of black top-soil on the surface after construction is completed, all grading and leveling at the site is finished.

The power plant will serve as a link in the power supply for the Nebraska Public Power System and to power users of the state of Nebraska, as well as supplying off-peak power during the dry years, permitting more water to be stored in McConaughy Lake for irrigation.

Work has been completed and accepted on the deep wells and pumps under contract to Layne-Western. Two metal storage buildings and one office building, under contract to the Behlen Manufacturing Company of Columbus, have been completed and accepted.

The substructure contract, let to Parsons Construction Company of Omaha, has been completed. The turbine foundation, also under contract to Parsons, is approximately 40 per cent complete. All work under this contract will be completed before March 1, 1957.

The construction schedule provides for the completion of the plant and placing it in operation May 15, 1958. The plant is being financed by the Rural Electrification Administration on a 2 per cent interest basis.

Ex-GI Business College Head Arrested On Larceny Charges

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —Harry Anderson of Grand Island, Neb., will be given a hearing in Municipal Court here Feb. 26 on a fugitive warrant filed in connection with a larceny charge at Junction City, Kan.

Anderson was arrested here Jan. 25, two days after his Grand Island Business College was closed by tax troubles. Assets of the college were seized by the Internal Revenue Service for non-payment of federal income tax withheld from employes.

A warrant filed in County Court at Junction City, Kan., accused Anderson of "wilfully and feloniously by trick and deceit" obtaining $25 from Terry Barge of Junction City as an enrollment fee in a secretarial school to be started in Junction City, and alleged that the school never was started.

Anderson has been freed on $1,500 bond pending his Feb. 26 hearing.

On Dec. 7, 1953, the State Department of Education removed approval of the Grand Island business school operated by Anderson.

This meant the school was no longer accredited as eligible to receive tuition under the GI bill for veterans' education.

In January, 1955, Anderson filed suit against State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker and Ben T. Meckel, director of Veterans Education for the state department, asking $50,000 damages.

The suit, filed in Lancaster County District Court, charged that Decker and Meckel had deprived Anderson of a "valuable right" and had allegedly caused him considerable damage.

Two Armory Dedications Are Scheduled At Sidney

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)— Not one, but two armory dedications are scheduled here this weekend.

On Friday, the Army Reserve plans an open house of its new three-room armory. The building, which the Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment of the 424th Ordnance Battalion calls home, is converted from an old grocery store.

Saturday there will be a dedication, open house and dance at the $189,000 Nebraska National Guard Armory here.

Speakers for the event include Maj. Gen. Warren Wood, commanding officer of the 34th National Guard Division; Nebraska Adjutant General Maj. Gen. Guy Henninger; Col. William Bachman of Omaha, commander of the 134th Infantry Regt., 43rd District Senator A. A. Fenske and Ralph Welch, president of the Sidney Chamber of Commerce.

Co. K, 134th Regt., is quartered in the Sidney National Guard Armory.

The National Guard Armory is on a 250 by 300 foot lot purchased from the Union Pacific Railroad by the Sidney Chamber of Commerce for $1,000 and then donated to the Guard. Construction was finished in December.

*"I go over the ads every day . . . it's part of reading the newspaper"

Ask ten different people why they read the daily newspaper and you'll probably get ten different answers. That's because the newspaper offers so much under one roof to interest people—local and world-wide news, sports, comics, fashions, home planning, business news, teen-age columns, human interest pictures, entertainment news, and much more.

Newspaper reading is a local habit done on a national scale. And one habit common to almost all newspaper readers is shopping the paper. As the lady above says, "It's part of reading the newspaper." That is one reason why an all time high of almost 57,000,000 newspapers are bought—and read—every day.

The newspaper is a basic need for people and is naturally a basic selling tool for all advertisers—national, regional and local.

High School Tuition Hike Proposal Held Back

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Education Committee Tuesday voted to hold for further consideration LB 185, a measure which would increase the weekly high school tuition rate from $10.50 per pupil to $14.

Nearly 200 persons appeared at the committee hearing on the measure introduced by Sen. William McHenry of Nelson. Eighteen persons testified for the bill and six opposed it.

Those favoring passage of the bill cited figures in their respective school districts showing that the present rate of $378 per year per pupil was not adequate to cover the costs of educating the students.

'Still Not Meet Costs'

Under the proposed bill, the annual tuition would amount to $504, which some proponents said would still not meet the costs, but would help.

W. E. Garrison of Nelson, said the measure was "important to every city which educates high school students from rural districts" on the basis that it would more nearly equalize the payment between city and rural school districts.

Garrison said that 68 per cent of the total enrollment in the Nelson High School comes from rural districts, but that the city's school district has to "make up the deficit" between the present tuition rate and the actual cost.

Chief argument of the bill's opponents was expressed by Elton Berck, representing the Farmers Union, who said the cities "would have the cost of operating their high schools anyway."

'Overbuilding'

Berck said the city school districts are "overbuilding" and that part of this was the fact that they were expecting to include rural pupils in their school systems.

Sen. McHenry asked the committee to amend the bill to include the emergency clause in order that the increased tuition may be taken into consideration when the school levies are set early next summer.

Without the emergency clause, the bill would not go into effect until three months after the Legislature adjourns which would be too late to take advantage of the proposed increase for the next school year.

In other action, during its executive session the committee instructed the bill drafter's office to draw a new bill on teacher's certification.

Committee Chairman Sen. Don Thompson of McCook, said the new bill would incorporate provisions of three other measures dealing with teacher certification, LB's 67, 68 and 369, and that permission would be asked to substitute the new measure for those three bills.

Carpenter's Liquor Permit Bill Held

The Legislature's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee Tuesday advanced LB 448, a Sen. Terry Carpener sponsored bill that had been held up for amendments.

The bill, as finally sent out of committee, would prevent any person or corporation from holding more than one liquor license, except hotels. The bill also would permit those holding more than one license already to keep those licenses.

3 Important Tax Bills Closer To Approval

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Three bills that will have a vital effect on the state's tax picture moved closer to passage Tuesday by the State Legislature.

This was evident as LB 80, LB 81, and LB 129 were advanced from general file. All three measures, too, will receive preferential treatment to have them become effective before March 1, this year.

As backed by the sponsors, LB 80 would make the rules and regulations of the state tax commissioner have the force and effect of law. Amendments attached Tuesday would limit the action of the commissioner to classes of property within a county and would enforce the commissioner to institute action if called for.

Fired If Don't Obey

The action, as set out in the bill, would call for the ouster of tax assessors in the state's 93 counties if they didn't follow the regulations.

Another amendment, offered by Sen. Terry Carpenter, would authorize the state to withhold gas tax payments from counties whose officials fail to abide by the taxing rules and regulations, at least until corrective steps have been taken.

The original bill was backed by state assessors at their last yearly meeting.

Sen. Otto Liebers, principal introducer of LB 80, said Monday during preliminary discussion of the measure that it would take the pressure off county assessors. This pressure comes from friends, relatives, and "pressure groups," Liebers said.

$1,000 More In Taxes

Many thousands of dollars of property not now on the tax rolls would be included if the county assessors were backed up in their work, the senator added.

A companion bill, LB 81, would set March 1 as the deadline time for the State Board of Equalization to meet and fix the relation of basic value to actual value for state property.

Sen. Monroe Bixler of Harrison tabbed the measures "one of the biggest steps we could take."

LB 129, introduced by Sen. Carpenter, would require warehousemen to furnish county assessors with lists of goods stored in the warehouses and who the owners of the goods were.

Gov. Victor Anderson personally backed LB 80 which was recommended in Legislative Countil studies in the taxation subcommittee headed by Sen. Liebers.

Committee OKs Mileage Hike

The Legislature's Salaries and Claims Committee Tuesday approved a bill raising from 6 to 7 cents per mile the mileage paid state officers and employes for using their own automobiles.

The seven cent rate is the same as that decided upon for most county officials in another bill which received committee approval earlier and currently awaits final passage in the Legislature.

Sen. Terry Carpenter, introducer of LB 464, the bill heard and advanced to general file Tuesday, said state and county rates ought to conform.

OILS RALLY TO SPARK SLOW STOCK SESSION

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils rallied late Tuesday to give a spark of life to the slowest stock market session in three months.

The oils advanced in active trading, and some of their enthusiasm was transmitted to the rest of the list but not for long. Closing prices were below their best of the day.

The general picture was irregular with a slight trend to the downside. The price changes for most pivotal stocks was from fractions to around $1. Some selected issues dropped more sharply.

Most of the leading oils were on the upside by fractions to as much as $2 or more.

Tuesday was the second session of minor fluctuation following the dramatic rise and fall of last week. Wall Street analysts felt the market was due for a breather to consolidate its position.

The rise in the oils followed news that the Texas Railroad Commission had raised the state's allowable oil production for March. The statement by Secretary Dulles regarding the international status of the Gulf of Aqaba was seen by some Wall Streeters as an encouraging item.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 10 cents to $172.10 with the industrials down 10 cents, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

The volume of 1,670,000 shares was the lowest since last Nov. 12 when 1,600,000 shares were traded. It compared with Monday's 1,800,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was irregular on volume of 680,000 shares compared with 830,000 Monday.

Grains, Except Rye, Advance

CHICAGO (AP) — A late rally left all grains except rye with fairly good advances on the Board of Trade Tuesday.

Throughout the session corn again showed a better undertone than anything else, marking the second day of revival for this cereal. Soybeans also had a steady tone from the start.

Wheat closed 1 to 1½ higher, corn 1⅝ @1⅞ higher, oats ¼@⅝ higher, rye ½ lower to 1 cent higher, soybeans ¾@2¼ higher and lard 7 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher.

More moisture in Texas and Oklahoma caused selling in wheat during the early trading. Losses ran to about a cent before the market steadied.

A rally got under way following an Agriculture Department report that 453,000 additional acres of land in the Great Plains were damaged by soil blowing in January.

The total acreage damaged this year is now 3,193,000 acres compared with 1,032,000 at this time last year.

However, the weekly Weather Bureau crop report noted, "Rains further improved prospects in the southeastern Great Plains but lack of moisture and wind blown dust continued as unfavorable factors in western portions of the Great Plains from eastern Wyoming and western South Dakota southward."

Soybeans made a technical rebound after Monday's spill.

Navy Bombers Slam Rockets Into Lighthouse; None Hurt

POINT LOOKOUT, Md. (AP) — Three Navy attack bombers on a routine flight apparently mistook a Chesapeake Bay lighthouse for a bombing target. Their rockets tore gashing holes in its wooden sides and ripped away much of the steel frame supports.

None of the four Coast Guardsmen in the lighthouse was injured, the Coast Guard said. An earlier report that two received minor scratches was not confirmed.

The propeller-driven planes, part of an all-weather squadron based at the Naval Air Station at Atlantic City, were to make an attack on a common Navy target, a submerged ship about four miles west of the light house.

One of the planes dropped flares. The other two made two passes at what they thought was their target, firing five-inch practice rockets.

The rockets—none carrying explosives—hit in front of the lighthouse and ricocheted into it, tearing at least three gaping holes about 18 inches in diameter in the frame siding.

Other rockets slammed into the steel beams supporting the building, completely severing several and bending others.

The four Guardsmen were evacuated, but the light burned throughout the night. Its purpose is to warn shipping of the shallow water over which it is located.

The Navy began investigation of the incident.

Youthful Pair Questioned In Grimes Case

CHICAGO (INS) — Two youths who reportedly were in the company of two girls on the night the Grimes sisters disappeared in Chicago were taken into custody Tuesday for questioning.

Brighton Park police announced they were looking for two or three other youths.

One of the boys — a 17-year-old — was seized when detectives found that his father had filed a complaint about the boy's late hours and drinking just before the Grimes sisters were reported missing.

The youth gave these details of his movements on the night the girls disappeared, Dec. 28:

He and three or four other boys had been drinking in a car in the Archer Avenue and 35th Street area on Chicago's Southwest Side, about two blocks from the Grimes home.

He said two girls — whom he would not identify — were with them and that one of the girls was assaulted by four of the boys. He stated the other girl resisted their advances.

The girl is Marilyn Kempf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Kempf of Chicago.

The operation was performed Jan. 18 when the child's temperature was lowered from the normal 98.6 to 84 degrees which slowed down her heart to 50 beats a minute.

Spontaneous Combustion Eyed In Bluffs Blaze

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. (AP) — Investigators Tuesday night were studying the possibility the rest home fire here last week that took 15 lives might have started from spontaneous combustion.

Investigators said a steam pipe from which some insulation had apparently been worn off prior to the fire was uncovered and theorized this possibly could have been the cause of the blaze.

But they had not discarded an earlier report that an electrical short, occuring near some window curtains, was the cause.

Night Raid On Sinatra Home Is Protested

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Frank Sinatra's attorney Tuesday demanded explanations from the Los Angeles police chief, the head of a State Senate committee and the president of the State Senate for the method used in sunpoenaing the crooner before the committee.

Attorney Martin Gang claimed that Sinatra's rights were violated and three process servers were guilty of "reprehensible action" in entering Sinatra's Palm Springs home at 4 a.m. last Saturday, awakening him by shining a flashlight in his face and thrusting the papers at him.

Gang wrote to State Sen. Fred Kraft of San Diego, head of the committee which subpoenaed Sinatra, asking that the legislator fix responsibility for the "unauthorized intrusion," name the persons who did it and prescribe punishment for those to blame.

Marilyn-Joe

Kraft heads a committee which subpoenaed Sinatra to testify about published reports that he and Joe DiMaggio were among members of a party which staged an abortive raid intended to get evidence against Marilyn Monroe in her 1954 divorce fight with the former baseball star.

Marta Toren, Film Beauty, Is Dead At 30

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A sudden brain hemorrhage took the life of one of Sweden's most successful film beauties Tuesday.

Marta Toren, 30-year-old star known to millions of movie fans as "The Eyes," died less than 48 hours after she was stricken following a performance of the J. B. Priestly play "Mr. Kettle and Mrs. Moon" at Stockholm's Alle Theater. She was a close friend of actress Ingrid Bergman.

Marta Toren

At her bedside was her husband, Leonardo Bercovici. He is a director and film writer. The couple's 4-year-old daughter, Kristina, was reported to be in London, where Miss Toren planned film work after her appearance here.

Doctors explained the disease which struck the actress is known as subarachnoid hemorrhage and "usually strikes like lightning from a blue sky." It is characterized by profuse bleeding beneath cerebral membranes.

German Movie Star Is Replaced

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Universal-International Pictures Tuesday fired O. W. Fischer, Germany's top movie star, and replaced him in "My Man Godfrey" with David Niven.

It was the 40-year-old Fischer's first American movie and had already been 16 days in production.

A terse studio announcement that Fischer was replaced because of "irreconcilable differences."

Sources close to the trouble reported Fischer "didn't want to take direction, didn't want to do the role the way the director and the studio felt it should be done."

Director of the picture is Henry Koster, also German-born. Costars are June Allyson and Martha Hyer.

A new clerk will be appointed by the county commissioners to fill the balance of Barrett's term.

BULGANIN RIPS IKE DOCTRINE

...'Colonial Trap'

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikolai Bulganin, bidding for Arab rejection of the Eisenhower Doctrine, said Tuesday the United States has insane plans for world domination. These can plunge the peoples of the Middle East into the "hell of atomic and hydrogen war," he declared.

Bulganin called the Eisenhower Doctrine "a colonial trap prepared by U.S. oil monopolies."

"The Arab people must display the greatest vigilance against the threat of this new enslavement," he said.

Khrushchev Warns

Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev used the same forum—a Soviet-Bulganin friendship meeting—to warn of other things.

He called for two-fold vigilance—first against "the intrigues of imperialist reaction" and second against past mistakes within the party. He cited particularly a need to "work tirelessly to consolidate the ranks of our party and make sure they are not penetrated by traitors and opportunists."

Bulganin's attack was applauded loudly.

He expanded on a line he took with Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai in a joint statement Jan. 18. They condemned the Eisenhower Doctrine and pledged the people of the Middle East "any necessary support" to avert aggression and interference in their affairs.

Oil President Defends 'Valid' Price Increase

. . . Said Worth $100 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey Tuesday defended as "long overdue" a crude oil price increase which Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) estimated tc be worth 100 million dollars to the company and its affiliates.

The oil company head, M. J. Rathbone, told the House Commerce Committee:

"If the price is not sufficient to encourage continued adequate exploration and development, America's economic health and security can be hurt."

O'Mahoney issued a statement saying that the 15 oil companies operating the emergency oil shipment, including Standard of New Jersey, weren't paying much attention to "the economic effect upon consumers anywhere." he said:

"I am advised it was the confident belief of major executives (of Standard) that an increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil would add 100 million dollars to the earnings of Standard of New Jersey and its affiliates."

Rathbone told the House committee he felt that statements made by oil industry representatives in defense of the price increase "have not been accepted."

'Good Case'

Actually, he said, "We have a good case, a valid one."

In saying that the price increase was long overdue, Rathbone said "I believe it would have happened in 1957 completely irrespective of the Suez crisis."

The closing of the Suez Canal and the blocking of Middle East pipe lines cut off much of Europe's oil supply and it was to meet this situation that the American companies pooled their work and facilities in the oil shipment program.

Rathbone said he thought the oil industry had done a good job in supplying Europe. He added:

"While we have been working hard to help our friends in Europe over their difficult time, we have not forgotten our responsibilities to the American public. The consumer here at home is assured of adequate supplies of gasoline and heating oil."

Open House Set For Blind School

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb — Jerry Regler, superintendent of the Nebraska School for the Blind located here, announced that the school plans to hold an open house for the public Thursday, Feb. 28.

Regler said the purpose of the day will be to better acquaint persons of this area who work with the blind children in other outside activities with their habits and qualifications. Persons will be invited to visit classes and observe the methods of teaching art, and other classes in braille.

COUNTY BOARD FAVORS INDUSTRIAL AREA BILL

The Lancaster County Board, favoring LB 70 which would allow counties to create "industrial areas," will oppose any attempt to eliminate this county from the bill's provisions.

Commissioner Russell Brehm said that Nebraska and the counties "should do everything in their power to bring new industry into the state."

The County Board's position counters that of the City Council which has proposed that Lancaster County be eliminated from the legislation.

Commissioner Rollin Bailey said LB 70 provides safeguards for the public and the city. The bill does not override Lincoln's three mile limit for zoning, Bailey pointed out.

LB 70 provides that counties may create industrial tracts up to 40 acres which cannot be incorporated into cities or villages.

In his support of the bill, Brehm pointed out that Nebraska as an agricultural state has suffered from drought during the past several years and everything possible should be done to encourage new industries.

School Bond Vote Slated March 9

ARTHUR, Neb.—Residents of Arthur County will go to the polls Saturday, March 9, to vote upon a proposed $16,000 bond issue for a new high school shop building here.

In the same election they will vote whether to transfer $4,000 from the high school's general fund to the shop building fund.

The two questions were originally written as one issue on the ballot, but the state auditor refused to accept them unless they were written separately.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

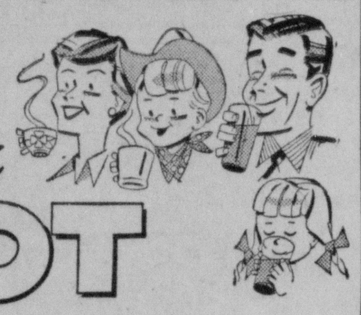

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.
